Miss Dix's Puzzle
Yes, We're Prosperous
General Motors' "Wow"

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

EDITOR THOMPSON says he has a new sister society to Bill Thompson's group. Read about it on Page 11.

ELDER came sailing home yesterday dressed in fur, silks, and furs. New York's mayor said he is young and can stand it. According to Chicago law, he will probably go into the army with the Illinois delinquent to look of him. That would be a good plan.

PROBLY has a puzzle, this one. "What is it that is hard to keep and almost impossible to lose once you have lost it?" The answer is, "Marital love."

PAUL BLOCK, a publisher of newspapers in many cities, including Newark and Toledo, says he will be the "best presidential year ever." Business will boom through 1928 and beyond. Mr. Block understands business.

THE foundation of prosperity, solid and enduring, is not exceptional wealth. Bernard H. Gimbel says:
"The country is sound because the prosperity is well distributed. Almost everybody gets his share." Mr. Gimbel, secretary of the board,
who is president of a house with branches in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Milwaukee, owning a business of over $125,000,000 a year, is also a position to judge conditions.

WALL STREET, cheerful yesterday, seemed to believe in a good presidential year and other good things.
General Motors in one lump discounted $87,250,000 in cash dividend.

In company in the world ever before, distributed so much in cash at one time.
The du Pont company alone got $18,
$900,000 on its investment in General Motors. That's a pretty good thing.

GENERALLY speaking, we are prosperous; those willing to work get paid. But Mrs. Hildgar Wywias did not find it so. She struggled for five years with four children, feeding, clothing, paying rent, washing, cooking and working as a "garment presser" for $25 a week. She scoured one expensive dress. That took a week's pay. Each month the rent took a week's pay.

Prosperous America was not prosperous enough for Mrs. Wywias. She broke the gas meter, opened all the jets, then laid by the head where her five-year-old son was sleeping, her three little girls asleep nearby.

All were dead when found, with no sign of life. The cause? There is a will to live in the BOTTOM for those that would make conditions better.

OUR government, doing in the middle of its gold supply, reads that Russia wants to become "king of the air," as Bruce Gould has it in an important article for Cyrus H. K.
Curtis.

Russia's society of 4,000,000 members, the "Aviokhin," is dedicated to making Russia preeminent in the air.
We may see day come closer to bolshevism than we are now. That is to say, it may come closer to us, and not to a pleasant end.

RUSSIA has 4,000 miles of air lines and teaches aviation in public schools. This country invented the first airplane, then stopped.

WORD THOMPSON, lately British secretary of state for air, says:
Russia, besides creating a great air force, has more clearly than any other government the essentials of air power and is using the machinery of state to push it "air some" into the masses of Russian people.

POLICEMAN MAY DIE
FROM BANDIT'S BULLET
Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 12—Policeman Fenton, 26, was wounded probably fatally when he was caught to capture bandits who today held up and robbed the inmates of an alleged disorderly house.

Three men jumped into an auto and the robbery. Fenton surprised them and held them at bay awaiting the arrival of additional police. Subsequently a fourth man came up behind Fenton and shot him in the back and abdomen.

BALMY INDIAN SUMMER FLEES BEFORE WINDS

Freezing Weather Due To Strike Ohio Tonight, Weatherman Forecasts

48-MILE AN HOUR WIND

Blizzard Feared in Eastern Iowa. While Michigan Is Swept by Cold

Balmy Indian Summer weather became a pleasant memory today when a fast moving cold wave sweeping down from the snow peaks of the Canadian Rockies rolled over Ohio, causing sharp declines in temperature.

Advance of the first real winter weather was heralded by snowfalls in parts of Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa and by tumbling temperatures from the Canadian border to Oklahoma, according to wire reports.

Freezing weather is due to strike
Ohio tonight, according to the official forecast.

Sudden Change
Marion experienced a decided change in temperature during the night, the mercury column slumping from the high November mark of 7 degrees to 38 within a few hours. Temperatures will drop considerably below the freezing level throughout Ohio and the midwest before Sunday, the weatherman says.

The sudden fall in this vicinity is attributed to a north wind which reached a velocity of 48 miles an hour shortly after 10 o'clock last night.
Ohio was hit by the tail end of a heavy windstorm which struck Chicago last night and swept towards the northeast, according to officials of the United States Weather Bureau.

BLIZZARD FEARED
IN EASTERN IOWA
Cedar Rapids, Ia., Nov. 12—Winter has settled down over eastern Iowa with every prospect of a blizzard during the next 24 hours. A warm rain Thursday was followed by a sudden drop of temperature with snow flurries in several sections. Ten above zero was reported in the northern part of the state.

COLD WAVE SWEEPS
OVER MICHIGAN
Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 12—A cold wave bringing snow was sweeping over Michigan today following a storm last night that caused thousands of dollars of damage.

Detroit was visited by a high wind but the gale was much more serious in the western part of the state.
At Grand Rapids, Jackson, Saginaw and other points, telegraph, telephone and light service were either destroyed or damaged. The gale unroofed houses at Saginaw and the rain flooded the streets.

WILBUR HAND DRAWS PRISON SENTENCE
12 to 25 Years in Ohio Penitentiary Penalty for Convicted Man

Bucyrus, Nov. 12—Common Pleas
Judge J. Walter Wright today sentenced Wilbur Hand to imprisonment in Ohio Penitentiary for from 12 to 25 years.
Hand was recently convicted of participating in the $105,000 robbery of the Commercial Savings Bank at Galien, June 28, last.

Before announcing sentence, Judge Wright overruled a motion for a new trial.

Plea for a new trial was based, in part, upon claim by Hand's attorney of newly-discovered evidence tending to prove that Hand was innocent. Hand's counsel submitted to the court an af-idavit signed by Edwin Daugherty, who stated that he was in the Galien bank at the time of the robbery and that Hand was not one of the robbers.

The court held that the affidavit did not constitute newly-discovered evidence because Daugherty could have testified during the trial.

When Republican Women Made Pilgrimage Here

YESTERDAY'S pilgrimage to the Harding Tomb here is shown in pictures above. The group of three women at the upper left is composed of Mrs. Thad H. Brown, Columbus, who was in charge of arrangements for the trip; on the left, Mrs. Charles H. Sabie, Republican national committee woman from New York state; center, and Mrs. Amasa Stone Mather, Jerseland, chairman of the finance committee of the Ohio Council of Republican Women.

About 150 cars, including the large buses shown above, brought the Republican women from Columbus to Marion. The picture under the buses is the Harding Tomb. The new marble memorial is shown in the upper right.

Below are Mrs. Lila Wood Daniels of Cleveland and Mrs. Anna Papadopoulos, who were among the many visitors to the tomb. Mrs.
Papadopoulos is a Greek nurse and is in this country raising money for a hospital for Greek soldiers in her native land. She came to Columbus with Republican friends in Cleveland in order to make the Harding pilgrimage. She is known as "mother of the soldier."

She wears the khaki costume of the war nurse, and her picturesque appearance attracts considerable attention wherever she goes.

C. OF C. PICKS NEW DIRECTORS

Seven New Members of Board Chosen in Annual Election

Annual election of directors of the Marion Chamber of Commerce came to a close last night when votes cast by the members were tabulated, showing that the following were chosen for membership on the board:

C. H. Islay, G. E. Frank, Millard
Tunt, H. B. Hane, Frank Glosser, C.
D. Schaffner and A. P. Van Deine.

These men, with eight other directors whose terms did not expire this year, will make up the board for the coming year. The board will meet Monday afternoon to elect executive officials and discuss plans for future activities.

The annual election proceedings began two weeks ago when an entire rollment list of the organization was mailed to all members for nomination of 14 candidates for the directorate.

This was followed by mailing out a ballot giving the names of the 14 nominees, from which the seven directors were chosen.

Knapp Out Monday
Monday will mark the close of the administration of George B. Knapp as executive head of the chamber. Management of the organization in the future, according to present plans, will be in charge of an executive secretary.

The board of directors for the coming year will consist of G. E. Frank,
Frank Glosser, H. B. Hane, Millard Tunt and C. H. Islay, whose terms expire to 1930; H. J. Barnhart, F. A.
Huber, G. B. Knapp, C. D. Schaffner and E. J. Schoenlaub, 1929; Horace Ballinger, W. J. Gorton, Fred E.
Guthrie, E. K. Usher and A. F. Van Deine, 1928.

Largest Crowd in Years Throngs Business Section For Armistice Day Event

Between 8,000 and 10,000 Persons Witness Parade, One of Chief Features of Local Celebration; Program Carried Out

Marion's Armistice Day Celebration came to a close shortly after the midnight hour last night after having established the record of drawing one of the largest throngs of local citizens assembled in the up-town district in recent years.

It is estimated that between 8,000 and 10,000 persons witnessed the street parade which was one of the chief features of the program last night. The masses of spectators filled practically every foot of space along the line of march, extending on Center and Church streets through the up-town section between Orchard and Baker streets.

Complete Success
The celebration as a whole was pronounced a complete success, the general program as outlined by the committee in charge being carried out on scheduled time and without a hitch in the proceedings.

The only feature which failed to come up to expectations was the marigras demonstration. The plan was to have this feature prominently in the celebration so that the event, from the standpoint of noise and enthusiasm, would compare with the original Armistice Day jollification in 1918.

Participants in the parade and the thousands of spectators who witnessed the procession were not in the mood for a boisterous demonstration, however, apparently preferring to observe the occasion in comparative quiet.

18 Units Entered
The parade, probably a half-mile in length, included 18 local military units.

DEDICATION OF EDIFICE IS SET

First Reformed Church Congregation Plans Special Services Sunday Morning

Arrangements have been completed for the service Sunday morning which will serve to dedicate the new. First Reformed Church, recently finished and furnished for occupancy.

Rev. Herbert F. Weckmiller, pastor together with the congregation will dedicate the new edifice with an especially arranged oral ceremony.

W. Leich, professor at the Central Theological Seminary, Dayton, is to give the dedicatory address. Other features of the service are organ numbers to be played by Miss Dorothy Zieg and vocal numbers by Miss Dora Jacobs.

The Reformed Church, as a denomination, was first organized here in 1813 with services held in the German language. The new edifice, begun in August, 1926, and completed during the last month, will be the fourth in which the congregation, officially organized in 1841, has worshipped.

During the coming week special programs have been arranged for each night, with the exception of Saturday, the special observance to conclude next Sunday with a communion service, reception of new members and baptisms.

Six pastors from other churches, five from out-of-town, will participate in the services. Dr. Leich to preach again next Sunday night.

The building fund campaign will be closed by A. C. Queen, manager, at the Sunday School hour, no fund-raising program of any kind to be held during dedicatory week.

HOME OR CAREER. SO SHE SUES HIM

Chicago, Nov. 12—Helen Men-non, actress, filed suit for divorce here today in superior court, charging that her husband, Thomphey Hogart, member of the cast of a production in Chicago, refused to give up his theatrical career for a home.

RED CROSS TO CANVASS CITY IN CAMPAIGN

House-to-house Drive Scheduled To Get Under Way
Sunday Afternoon

Citizens of Marion will be given an opportunity, Sunday, to have their homes represented on the membership list of the local Red Cross chapter and to have a part in carrying on the program of charity and welfare work which the organization plans for the coming year.

At 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, several hundred workers enlisted in the annual Red Cross roll call campaign will start a complete canvass of the city's residential districts to collect membership subscriptions from the homes.

Red Cross officials are counting on this city-wide campaign as one of the chief factors in attaining the quota set for the roll call, which is a total membership of 2,500 and a fund of $10,000.

General Canvass
A general canvass has already been made in the business district. All stores and offices having been visited during the last few days by members of the "Red Cross" of Women's Clubs.

More than $1,500 has been obtained from this source, according to figures compiled at Red Cross headquarters today.

Generous contributions are also expected from the city's industrial communities, which are making their subscriptions to a committee composed of Fred B. Schmitt and John A. Schroeter.

A report of the industrial contributions will be made Monday, the final day of the campaign.

The campaign is also in progress in all sections of the county outside the city of Marion and preliminary reports indicate gratifying results. Red Cross officials reported today.

Outline Work
George B. Knapp, roll call chairman, today outlined the program of work planned for localities outside the city. Auxiliary Red Cross organizations are to be maintained in those communities with funds which persons residing there contribute to the roll call.

Each community will retain all money subscribed with the exception of 50 cents for every member, which will be forwarded to national Red Cross headquarters for general relief and welfare work throughout the country.

None of the funds subscribed to these various outside localities will go to the county chapter but will be used entirely for Red Cross service in the community.

THREE BURNED TO DEATH AT BATAVIA

Fourth Reported Dying as Result of Blaze That Destroys Home

Batavia, Nov. 12—Three persons were burned to death and a fourth was reported dying as the result of a fire which destroyed the home of Jesse Darlington here early today. The victims were Jesse Darlington, 25; his mother, Mrs.
Nancy Darlington, 55; and his 11-month-old son, Joseph William.

Mrs. Mazie Darlington, 26, arose about 4 o'clock this morning to prepare breakfast for her husband, Jesse, and attempted to start a fire in the cookstove with kerosene. The result was an explosion which awakened other members of the family and set the three-room frame house in flames.

Seeing his wife on the floor, badly burned, Jesse Darlington lifted her to a window and pushed her outside. In the meantime his mother, Mrs. Nancy Darlington, was attempting to escape with the infant and the son went to assist her. The front door was locked and all three were trapped and overcome at that point.

Citizens of the town formed a bucket brigade, but the house was completely destroyed. The bodies, charred beyond recognition, were extricated from the ruins. Mrs. Mazie Darlington was taken to the home of a neighbor and no hope is held for her recovery.

TWO COLLISION VICTIMS
Cleveland, Nov. 12—Michael Hader-ski, 18, and Harry Jeszko, 19, both of Cleveland, are dead today as the result of a motorcycle-truck collision in Cuyahoga Heights late yesterday.

W. CHURCH-ST STORE VISITED DURING NIGHT

Combination Battered from Steel Vault at Horton Battery Station

SLEDGE HAMMER FOUND

Fur Coat Stolen from O. A.
Siffritt Home, 222 W.
Columbia-st

After an absence of several weeks, sledge hammer safe crackers played a return date here last night when they opened the safe in the office of the Horton Battery Station on W. Church-st and escaped with $135 in cash.

A heavy sledge hammer and approximately $5 in nickels and dimes found on the floor near the safe, leads police to believe the burglars were frightened away before they could force open the door of a small compartment in the safe in which a large amount of money was kept.

The robbery was discovered about 3 o'clock this morning by John P. Solter, merchant policeman, when he found the rear door of the place unlocked. The robbers had gained an entrance to the building by breaking out a pane of glass from a rear window, reaching through and releasing the catch at the top.

Door Cracked
The combination had been hammered from the safe door by blows heavy enough to crack the door in several places. A smaller combination also had been broken from an inside door. The

STOLEN DRYGOODS RECOVERED HERE
Drygoods valued at more than $500, stolen from freight cars in the Hocking Valley yards last night, was recovered by railroad detectives and local police in a vacant home along the tracks north of Bennett-st shortly before noon today.

The opened cars were discovered by residents of that section of the city last night. Hocking Valley and Erie detectives together with the local police acting on a tip received from a resident of Bennet-st found two large boxes containing drygoods in the vacant house. The goods were removed to police headquarters.

money drawer which had contained the $135 and some small change was found on the floor. Neither the safe nor the door had been disturbed.

The robbery is regarded by the police as unusually bold in view of the fact that the safe, which sits in a compartment in the wall, faces a large front window which is in plain view from Prospect-st as well as from Church-st.
It is believed that because of the exposed position, the burglars took no chances and when danger of detection seemed imminent made their escape leaving the hammer and the small change.

FUR COAT IS STOLEN HERE
Unluckily a sideboard by means of a skeleton key, burglars early last night entered the home of O. A. Siffritt, 222
W. Columbia-st and stole a fur coat belonging to Mrs. Siffritt. Valued at $150, a pocketbook, also the property of Mrs. Siffritt and a string of beads with other jewelry, which were lying on a dressing table, were not molested.

That the thief knew what he wanted when he entered the home is the belief of police. Several other coats and dresses, which hung in front of the fur coat, had been carefully removed by the thief and replaced on the hooks, after the fur coat had been taken.

Discovered by Mrs. Siffritt
The robbery was discovered by Mrs.
Siffritt at 8:30 o'clock last night when she returned home after having attended the Armistice Day parade. She notified her husband, who is a captain at the central fire station. He in turn notified the police.

Apparently no effort had been made by the burglar to take anything else from the home, as drawers showed no evidence of having been opened and a quantity of silverware had not been disturbed.

PUT RURAL COURTS ON SALARY--TURNER

Suggests System as Part of Next Ohio Republican State Platform

Columbus, Nov. 12—A salaried court system for rural communities to take the place of the justices of the peace,
"but without any trace of the fee system remaining," was suggested today by Attorney General Edward C. Turner as a plank for the next Ohio Republican state platform.

Declaration that the defeat of the Marshall Bill constituted evidence that "the people are tired of the rule of bigotry and passiveness" was voiced by Turner today as he addressed a session of the Ohio Republican Women's Council here.

BAPTIST REVIVAL TO CLOSE SUNDAY

Joint Choir of Three Churches Will Give Special Music
at Services

With a union service of the three local Baptist Churches, Trinity, Fife Memorial and Emmanuel, evangelistic services at Trinity Baptist Church will be brought to a close next Sunday night with a sermon by Rev. C. H. Stull, Granville, head of evangelism in Ohio Baptist Churches. His subject will be, "Homesick Folk."

A special feature of the service will be the numbers by a chorus choir composed of voices from all three churches, directed by Rev. Wiley S. Young, pastor of Fife Memorial Church.

A "united service" will be held in the morning opening with Sunday school at 9 o'clock and closing with an address by Rev. C. H. Stull, who will progress from church to church, lending his services.

RALLY DAY PLANNED BY PRESBYTERIANS

Forest Lawn Congregation To Hold Special Services on Sunday

Rally Day will be observed Sunday at Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church at the Bible School and regular morning services. Promotional exercises are to be held for students of the school at that time. At night Rev. John A. Carraker, pastor, will preach on the subject, "The Man Who Knew Jesus Died for Him."

A reception for the new pastor and his family is to be held next Wednesday night at the church and the regular business session will be held at the Carraker home, Wednesday, at 7:30 o'clock. Members of the Christian Endeavor Society will hold their regular business meeting Thursday night at the church.

DECLAMATION EVENT TO BE HELD SUNDAY

Four Contestants Scheduled To Speak at Epworth
M. E. Church

With four contestants scheduled to speak the third annual Prince of Peace Declamation Contest for Epworth M. E. Church will take place at 7 o'clock Sunday night at the church. The speakers will be Catherine Cheney, Helen French, Nyla Miller and Edward Sloan. The winner will take part in a Marion County contest, sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches. Attractive awards in the form of college scholarships are offered the winners.

An unique service has been arranged for the morning when "Sadie Sahinski" whose identity is being withheld as a surprise, will speak.

SERIES SERMON
The third of a series of "Sermons from Palestine," on the subject, "The Temple," will be preached by Rev. G. A. Whitlock Sunday night at Wesley M. E. Church, it was announced today.

How a Will Not Brought To Date May Work Hardship

You may have spent large sums of money for the education of an older child. Suppose you die before your other children have been given the same educational opportunities. Has your will been made to cover this situation—or does it still provide for an equal division of your property among all?

You may have set up one of your children in business, or given one or several their just share of your estate during your lifetime. Has your will been made to protect the others who have not received their share?

Your will may have created a trust estate for the protection of your wife and children but made no provision for an after-born child.

"Who Was Hosea?"

A SERMONETTE

BY DR. H. L. GEORGE,
Pastor, Epworth M. E. Church

EVERYBODY ought to read again the Book of Hosea, the prophet.

Why so? In order to get once more a picture of our own times. I read it this morning in exactly 47 minutes. I was not trying to establish a record for myself; but to gain a fresh grip on its message. It is an old book written about 740 B. C.; says George Adam Smith, yet quite a modern book with many a point and place of contact with our present age.

We could acquire a lot of wholesome and most profitable counsel by an honest study of its teachings. And, after all, is not this the part of wisdom to profit by the findings of the past? In medicine and in statecraft and in law, it is not thus? Are not our times to a marked degree the product of the total findings in all fields of the great past of history?

Francis Bacon was probably the pioneer of modern scientific method so prolific in present day improvements and conveniences and discoveries in all fields. And, we live and carry on today, in the full light of all these discoveries and findings. The day of the fallow dip and the ox-cart has passed forever. At a glance it would seem that in all fields and walks of life save morals and religion, we seize with unerring grip, the total findings of the ages. In all fields, and yet today, these days of multiplied opportunities for education, it still holds as Hosea said in his time: "My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge."

"They shall return to Egypt, for Israel hath forgotten his Maker."

It is perfectly wonderful at how many angles our own national life is clearly depicted in the history of Israel in the times of Hosea. We could afford to reread this inspired portrait of a once great people who lost out entirely, went under national eclipse, into captivity, probably lost forever to historical sight, unless some mere fragments reappear and return with Nehemiah, Ezra and Zerubbabel to Palestine.

No more appealing and challenging age ever was known than ours; every development, every least that trembles in the breeze, indeed, everything has new meaning has gone under the glass, and the x-ray, and has yielded up its glory and its treasure! Life never possessed so many thrills.

But this has its dangers: a once great student of his times declared as his nation trembled to its fall and alluded to the once powerful Roman Empire that most included and once shook the world, indeed, was the world, in its day; that this nation lost sight of God, and that in the very days when God was so marvelously and tellingly revealed in the Person of Jesus of Nazareth, "And worshipped the creature more than the Creator." This was Paul's philosophy of the Decline of the Roman Empire; a philosophy Gibbon appears to have overlooked. If a man were today to go about carrying a tallow candle, or be found driving about his car lighted by such a relic of former years, he would be taken into a law and brought before some mind specialist. We are nearly as silly when we go about living without morals or religion, such as constitute the body of the findings of all past ages! God has furnished us with a book containing this record.

The Bible whatever else it may contain, and it overflows with a multitude of findings leading forth from the very soul sweat, and heartblood, and bitter tears of men and women who in fiery trials sought out and thank God, found, some dependable gold whose luster time does not. Think of what Abraham found! And Moses, and David, and Solomon, and the prophets like Elijah, Isaiah, Amos, Hosea. Shall we go on living as they never had lived or discovered aught of worth for our age?

If we do so foolish a thing, we shall sow the wind as did their times and reap, the whirlwind as they did. Are we not reaping a bit now?

CRESTLINE PLAINLY MARKED FOR AVIATORS
Burgess, Nov. 12—Crestline's chamber of commerce has placed a 60-foot "Crestline" sign with letters nine and one-half feet high on the roof of the city building in that town. The letters are yellow on a black background.

An arrow indicates north, and the sign is illuminated at night thus aiding aviators night and day.

Everybody recognizes common sense instantly; but that doesn't always make it popular.

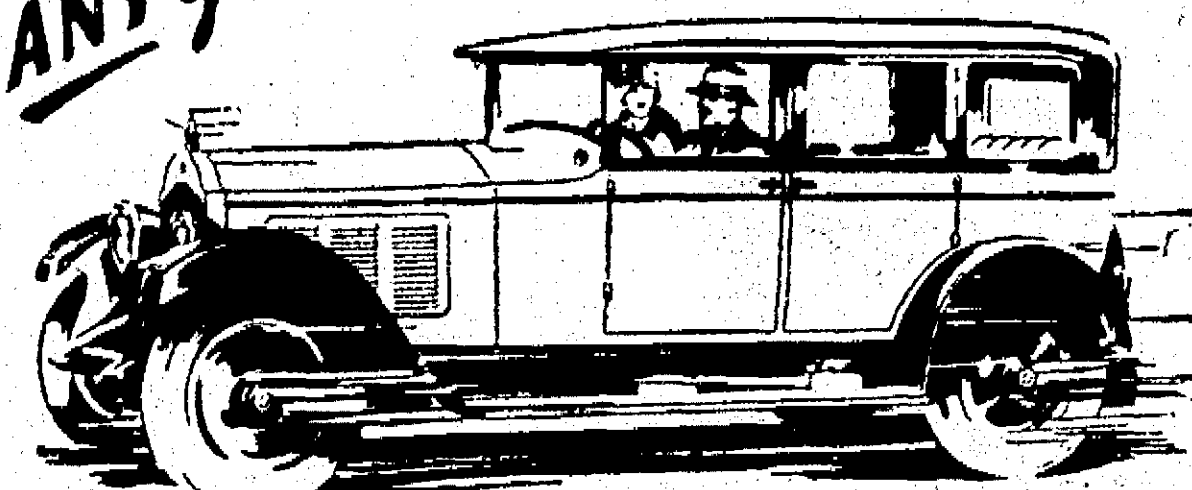

So long as there are old blue in existence, some goose, from time to time, will attempt to enforce them.

Week-Eyed Scrub Bull Complacently Chews Hay While Jury Decrees Death

At the local battle as to his apprehensive eyes toward his captors, recovering his composure the scrub bull faced death without a tremor. A shot rang out. More than 200 persons in the hall heard the thud of a falling body. Society had rid itself of another menace.

A roughbox covered with black paper was carried into the hall by students in vocational agricultural classes in county schools. It was placed in front of the platform where appropriate rites were performed in charge of L. L. Rummel, field editor of the Ohio Farmer.

The trial was attended by cattlemen, dairymen, students of the vocational agriculture classes in the county schools and men prominent in agriculture development in the state.

While carried on in more or less of a humorous manner, the court which consisted of a judge, clerk, attorneys and witnesses was intended to impress

Led away
The scrub bull was led into the rear of the building where a silent executioner was waiting in hand that he cast farmers with the fallacy of raising scrub stock when, without additional labor or any greater cost of feeding, grade or pure bred stock can be raised to yield much better returns.

Presides As Judge
Attorney John H. Clark presided as judge while the attorneys for the defense were J. D. Williamson and Sylvester Larkin. The county was represented by Attorneys Alfred Donithen and Carter M. Patton. Expert witnesses were J. E. Mills, Roland Leeper, O. L. Blackman of Ohio State University and I. D. Hadley of the Ohio Holstein Association. C. R. Rayburn, county school superintendent, served as bailiff.

It was brought out by Mr. Mills, while on the stand, that in one instance through the cow test system, which is now being carried on in the county, it developed that one scrub cow had made a profit for her owner of two cents in one year. He also testified that a cow producing 100 pounds of butterfat a year, made a profit for her owner of $16 and a cow producing 200 pounds a year made a profit of $70 while a cow producing 300 pounds a year made a profit for her owner of $100.

Bull Presented
The meeting also was featured by the formal presentation to the farmers of the country, of a Holstein bull won by the county last spring as an award for the purchase of the largest number of bulls from a special train operated by the Erie railroad.

The bull was led to the platform and presented by C. J. Miller, president of the Ohio Holstein Association. Talks were also given by G. E. Palmer, of the Erie railroad, who was in charge of the bull train and by I. D. Hadley, of the Ohio Holstein Association.

Several thoroughbred Jersey, Holstein and Guernsey cows and bulls were displayed at the meeting by farmers of the county.

The trial was sponsored by the vocational agriculture teachers of the county and the Agriculture Development Department of the Erie railroad. Music was furnished by the boys band of Waldo.

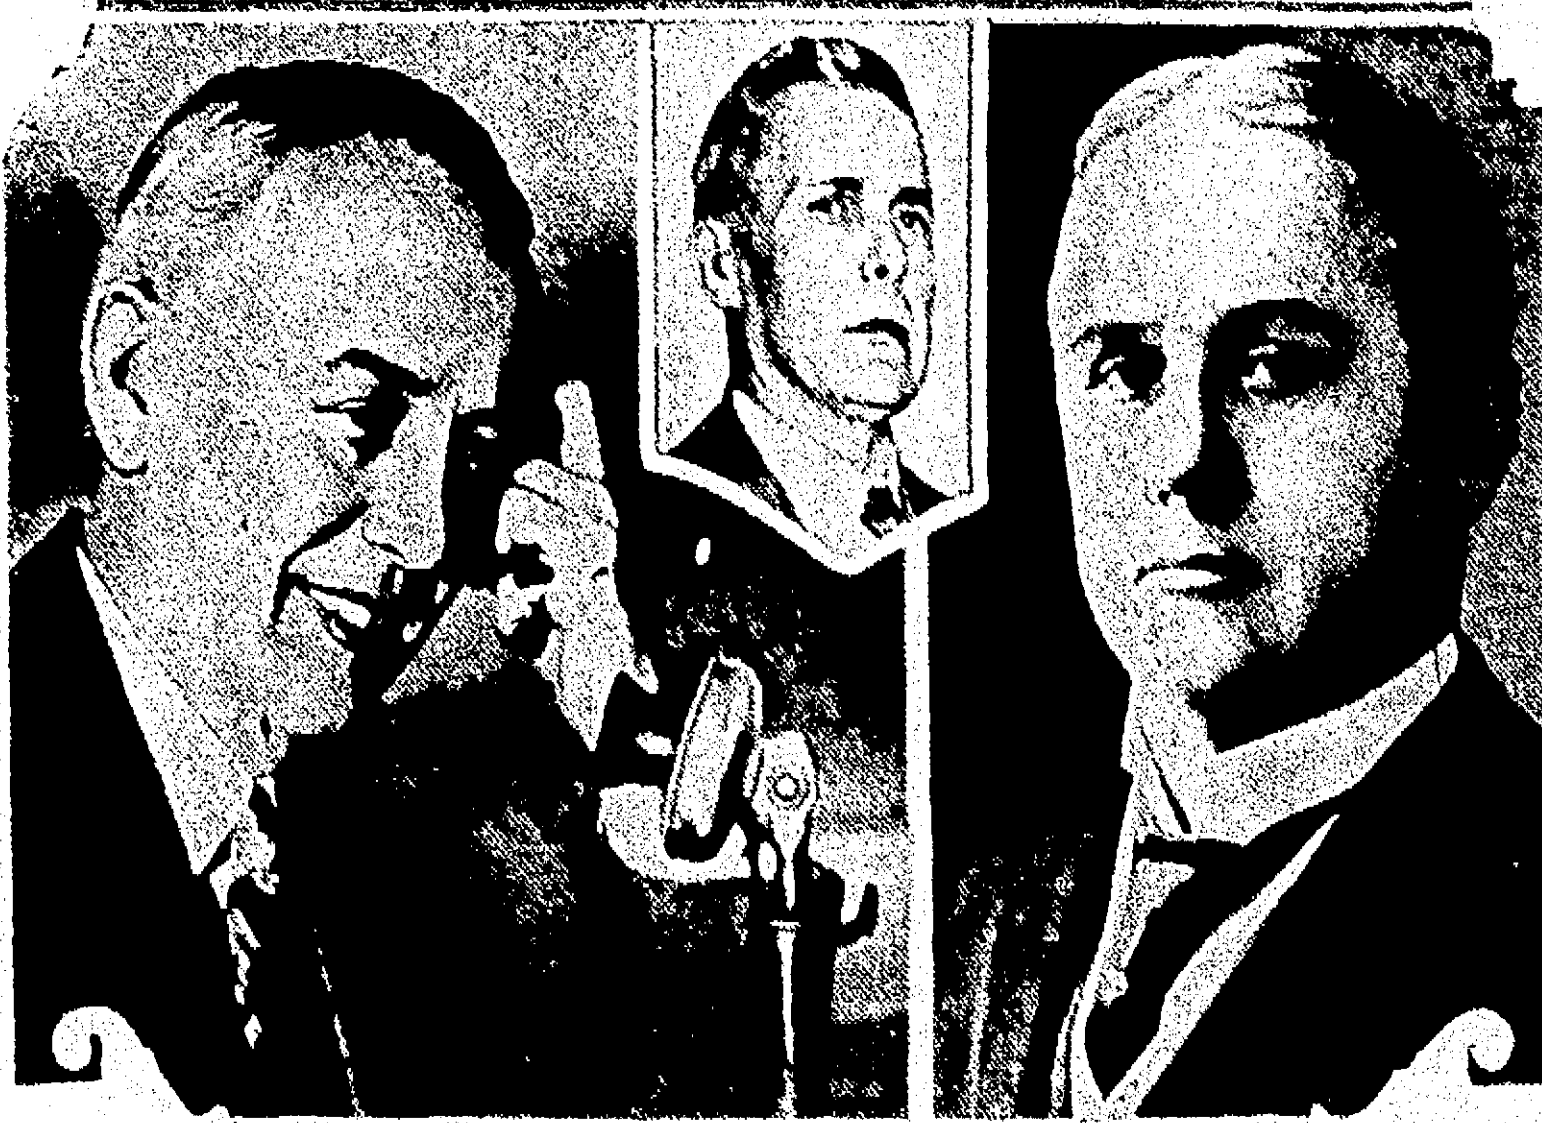

MARYSVILLE LODGE PLANS UNIFORM RANK

J. H. Ramey, Marion, Brigadier General, Attends Session of Order

Plans for organization of a Knights of Pythias Uniform Rank company in Marysville were outlined at a meeting of the Marysville Lodge held last night, which was attended by J. H. Ramey of this city, brigadier general of the Uniform Rank in Ohio, and a delegation from Columbus Company No. 101. A band of 25 pieces accompanied the Columbus delegation and gave a concert program in connection with the meeting.

Committees to have charge of organizing the Marysville company were appointed and it is expected that final details will be worked out within the next few weeks. Marion Company No. 15 and other uniform rank organizations from this section of the state are expected to attend special ceremonies to be held when the Marysville company is instituted.

General Ramey was accompanied to Marysville by U. F. Zachman and John Reunert, members of Marion Company, and Capt. Carl Rieger of the company at Willard.

Meditations OF A Married Woman

BY HELEN ROWLAND
SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON
One Way To Hold A Husband
O to, ye simple Matrons of Baby-land! How long will ye continue to pin your faith upon beauty dreams and chiffores?

How long will ye seek to hold a husband's love with baby-ribbons and to bind him to you with silken corset strings and plastic surgery?

Nay, let sappers and debutantes follow after beauty and cultivate sex appeal and foolish raiment and lipstick levelness. For all the hours of Solomon's barem were not arrayed like one of these!

But as for you, oh ye Married Women, it signifies not whether ye be clad in all-silk or in all-wool, in a Paris Model or in a bungalow apron. For after the hourglass, ALL husbands are afflicted with astigmatism!

Behold, with every day the call of "Self Appeal" becometh louder and louder. And the masculine response becometh feebler and feebler!

To, more and yet more silk hosiery is flauntingly displayed with each season. Yet the number of divorces keeps apace therewith.

And it hath come to pass that a man who once would linger upon a windy street corner to gaze after a well-turned ankle, will not so much as lift his eyes from his newspaper to gaze upon an hundred pairs of silken knees.

For these are his portion today, yesterday, and forever. And all silk stockings look alike to HIM!

How then shall a woman hold her husband's love in a world full of sirens and Loreleis and unblushing man-hunters.

Verily, verily, there is but one way in all the world to hold ANY man to thee for life. And this, oh my Daughter, is to make thyself a NECESSITY unto him!

For whether a man's wife be his backbone or only his rib; whether she be his inspiration or only his relative; his footstool or his headrest, his accelerator or his stockholder, he will CLING unto her so long as she is the one woman in all the world who fillets his NEED!

But she that heedeth not my counsel shall spend her days and waste her substance in the fruitless pursuit of near-beauty and waning youth. She that ceaseth to be a "necessity" and entereth into competition with "ramps and luxuries shall find the world filled with younger and more alluring "ramp-eries". And all her struggles shall be vain!

Verily, verily, every woman may per adventure be a SIREN—but not unto her own husband!

For the only tie that bindeth any man to any woman is NECESSITY! SELAH.

BUICK for 1928

Buick for 1928 is as up-to-date as the latest mode. Its fleet, graceful lines and new combinations of lustrous Duco colors catch every eye. Its rich upholsteries and exquisite appointments introduce an entirely new order of luxury in closed car interiors.

Improvements in the Buick six-cylinder Valve-in-Head Engine—long famous for its stamina—provide unmatched performance, new snap to getaway, and greater power than ever before.

Buick's Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers, front and rear—integrally designed with Buick Cantilever Springs—smooth away all road imperfections.

The Sealed Chassis, Torque-Tube-Drive and staunch bodies by Fisher, assure long life, enduring satisfaction and absolute dependability.

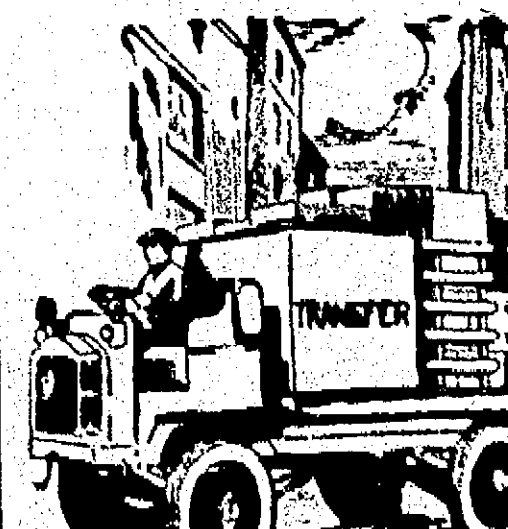

Buick for 1928 has won tremendous popularity everywhere among men and women alike—because it combines the style that women desire with the durability that men demand.

15 PROPERTIES ARE TRANSFERRED HERE

Mortgage Transactions Figure in Sharp Decline in County During Week

Real estate transactions in Marion county this week fell to the lowest weekly total of the year, only 15 properties being transferred, according to the register at the county recorder's office. This was 18 less than the number of transfers made last week.

Mortgage transactions also figured in a sharp decline, totalling only 19 during the week. In the preceding week, which established one of the highest records of the year, there were 39 mortgages amounting to $123,483.48. The 21 mortgages this week amounted to $82,111.53. Of the total, 18 mortgages amounting to $51,561.23 were on properties in the city of Marion and five, totalling $30,550.30, were on farm and village real estate. Twelve of the loans, amounting to $53,610, were made by local building and loan associations.

The general decline in both property transfers and mortgage transactions was due largely to this being election week and to partial suspension of business activities on Armistice Day, real estate dealers state.

A list of deeds recorded during the week follows:

FORMER MRS. DODGE WANTS DECREE, CLAIM

Mannings Reported To Have Parted at Shanghai After Honeymoon Quarrels

Manila, Nov. 12—Their honeymoon trip disrupted, Mrs. Benjamin P. Manning, former wife of Horace B. Dodge, Jr., was aboard the steamer President Hayes enroute to Europe today, while her husband, Lieutenant Manning, was at Shanghai.

The couple, according to passengers on the President McKinley, quarreled continually while traveling between Kobe and Shanghai—a quarrel which finally resulted in Mrs. Manning taking another cabin and her husband staying at Shanghai.

Mrs. Manning left the President McKinley and continued the journey on the President Hayes only on the condition that her husband was refused booking on the latter ship, it was reported.

It is understood here that Mrs. Manning will leave the ship at Genoa and from there go to Paris, where, it is rumored, she will seek a divorce.

The Mannings left Honolulu several weeks ago on the same day that Horace B. Dodge, Jr., accompanied by his two children, who had been in custody of Mrs. Manning, sailed for Canada.

MURDER, SUICIDE

Husband Fatally Wounds Wife, Then Takes Own Life

Cadiz, Nov. 12—Murder and suicide was the explanation given by police today in the manner in which Doyle D. Donaldson, 32, and his wife, 26, met death Friday.

Their bodies were discovered on a staircase in their home by a neighbor last night. Mrs. Donaldson had been shot twice through the body, while Donaldson was killed by a bullet which entered his right temple.

A note in the husband's pocket, addressed to his father, F. N. Donaldson, explained that his wife had been unfaithful.

Although the revolver contained only one empty shell, five empty cartridges were found on the floor near the bodies and police believed that Donaldson killed his wife and then reloaded the gun before shooting himself.

The victims are survived by two small children.

Largest Submarine in World.

The V-1, launched at the Portsmouth navy yard, Friday, represents the largest type of submarine thus far constructed. She has a length of 331 feet over all, a maximum beam of thirty-three feet and seven and a half inches, displaces 2,878 tons of water at the surface and her Diesel engines give her a contract speed of fifteen knots at the surface and eight knots when submerged. She is designed to enable her to make long cruises with a maximum of comfort to her complement of eight officers and eighty men.

This V-4, which is the first of the mine-laying submarines laid down by the navy department, embodies all desirable features of mine-laying submarines previously built for other navies. These will enable the vessel to lay mines in any condition in which it may be called upon to operate. She is designed for maximum cruising radius and endurance, to enable her to operate in conjunction with the fleet.

Corrosion-resisting steel has been extensively used for shafts and important parts of machinery working in the water. Many of the interior fittings are of aluminum to save weight. Increased strength of important parts of the main and auxiliary machinery with a decrease in weight has been obtained by the extensive use of nickel steel and other alloy steels.

Naval experts are not as yet agreed as to whether the backbone of the navy is to be on the surface, under water or in the air. There are champions of the battleship, champions of the submarine, champions of the aeroplane, and champions of the three forces combined. While plan is to prevail has not yet been determined, but no matter what the outcome of the controversy of the experts may be, there is safety, since we are constructing while the controversy is yet in progress, in building whatever we do build second to none. So long as we continue to build submarines, they should be the most powerful extant. In constructing the V-4, the largest and most powerful yet designed, the navy department has followed this plan.

That White Cross in Arlington.

Even though it could not possibly have been intended as such, perhaps no more telling thrust at the opera bouffe campaign to estrange the two great English-speaking peoples could have been given than the unveiling by Canadian officials in Arlington cemetery, Armistice day, of the white marble cross erected by the Canadian government in memory of the Americans who gave their lives while serving with the armed forces of Canada during the World war. A more fitting date than that of the anniversary of the signing of the armistice could not have been selected, nor a more timely one in view of the buffoonery which had its inception in the big city at the foot of Lake Michigan.

That two peoples could so long live side by side in peace and friendship with but a theoretical line between is the miracle of all ages, present and past. That two governments could so endure without the encroachment of one upon the other; that the people of each felt perfectly safe from aggression by the people of the other, despite the fact that the long line stretching between them throughout the width of a mighty continent was unmarked by a single fortification, is without parallel in all history.

The long-enduring friendship of the United States and Canada; the long-unbroken intercourse of their people free from bickering and quarrels; the spirit of trust and confidence exhibited by both, should be viewed by the nations of the old world—and some of the New, for that matter—less as a marvel and more as a matter for emulation by them. Here we have the way to world peace. It will not come by treaties and agreements; it will not come through the dictation of a League of Nations or the decree of a World court. But when it does come it will be through such understanding as that which exists between the United States and Canada, an understanding which prompts such gracious thoughtfulness and evidences of friendship as the marble memorial unveiled in Arlington Friday typifies.

This year's turkey crop in Texas, which leads all other states in raising the birds, is reported to be twelve per cent. larger than the 1926 crop, and wholesale dealers in all parts of the country say the supply is plentiful, but our gentlemanly butcher is hardly liable to get the news in time to work for economy in the matter of our Thanksgiving dinner.

Newspapers throughout Austria have announced that the Italian authorities in South Tyrol have ordered that all German words on tombstones must be erased and Italian words substituted therefor. If the story is true, it shows that even as big a man as Mussolini can at times be pitifully obtuse to the committing of an awful blunder.

California-Grown Coffee.

California has come a degree nearer establishing her boast, that she can grow anything designed to tickle the palate of the epicure, by demonstrating her ability to raise a fine grade of coffee. Experimental crops, roasted by San Francisco experts, are said to have yielded a beverage equal to the finest produced in Arabia.

The experiment has been conducted in the Imperial valley. It is not the ordinary variety grown in the humidity of tropical Brazil, but real Mocha indigenous to Arabia, which commands high prices and is almost unknown to the American trade.

A Los Angeles wire telling of the experiment, brings out one difficulty which it was found necessary to overcome under the heat of the sun shed upon the below-sea-level valley.

"Unfortunately," says the wire, "the Imperial valley is too hot for the unsheltered coffee plant. Whence comes the plan to plant alternately rows of coffee with castor bean or acacia trees. The castor bean is especially favored for its generous shade. It is hoped further that the bean may pay its way in castor oil. In the proposed new coffee belt, the subterranean water level is so far beneath the surface of the soil that growers will have no fear of the flooding and standing of water, which make trouble on tropical plantations. Ample irrigation on a freely-drained, warm alluvial soil is the requirement, and one easily satisfied in the flood plain of the Colorado."

Not so long ago—but a matter of a few decades—it was thought that California could not raise many fruits in which she now excels. The raising of figs, and dates, and olives, as well as oranges worth the eating, was deemed impossible out there. But today all these fruits are raised in the Golden Gate state in quantity, as well as Alaska grapes and the much finer Tokay and nuts of many kinds supposed to be growable only far closer to the equator.

If she can add the profitable growing of a high grade coffee to her already long list of edibles, she will indeed prove herself to be a blessing to her sister states, especially is this true in this day and age of Volsteadism when thirsts are many and pleasing beverages are few.

An Akron caddy, through his best friend, has sued a golfer up there for $10,000, asserting that a golf ball driven by the golfer struck a tree and rebounded striking him, the caddy, in the mouth, causing several broken teeth and other injuries and necessitating surgical and dental attention for some time. To save any trouble along this line, we sincerely hope that our local golfing friends will insist that their caddies wear masks.

The seizure of $100,000 worth of diamonds, which was brought about by the excessive size of shoes worn by an incoming traveler in which they were found, will hardly have a tendency to ease the ways of people of good understanding in passing the customs inspectors at our seaports.

A University of Wisconsin professor, commenting on the campaign of the University of Virginia alumni to keep girls from entering that school on the ground that it would lower its moral standards, intimates that perfectly honest men when they come into contact with women are inclined to lie, cheat and steal. This professor should experience little difficulty in establishing the fact that there is a strain of old Adam in his system.

ANOTHER PASSENGER TO WORRY ABOUT.

Babies Need Fresh Air.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Last summer I had a wonderful sea trip, spending nearly three weeks on a steamer. During most of the time no land was in sight.

Three weeks is a long time. You have leisure to think. The little events of the ship are important, because matters of greater weight are far away to trouble you.

On board was a fine family from China. The father was American and the mother Scotch. They impressed me as sane and sensible persons.

There were two children, one a little baby. It is about the baby I want to tell you. You will recall my constant harping about fresh air for babies. Nothing in the life of the child is more important than this.

A baby born into a house of six rooms has three times the chance to live that a baby born into a so-called home of two rooms has.

How do I know this?

Several years ago one of the research societies in a great city made a very careful study of such matters. They followed the lives and surroundings of thousands of newborn babies. The statement I just made is the conclusion of this study.

An excuse for a home, two rooms, must be packed with the furniture and fixings necessary for day and night living. The kitchen stove and dining table, the family beds, the washbasins, brooms, pots and pans, are all mixed up in a perfect mess, no matter how orderly and ambitious the family may be.

When night comes the place is too crowded to afford air space for all the family. Who suffers most? The baby.

In all probability the tiny little thing is put into the clothes basket, an improvised bed. The basket is placed in a corner, "out of the draught." Cooked for air, the baby is robbed of what is quite as important as milk and water.

On our ship, the baby was left in the open air day and night. During waking moments it was placed in a screen-sided pen. On a clean blanket, it kicked and squirmed and cooed to its heart's content.

When it slept, which was most of the time, it was placed in its cot and left in the open air. For the whole three weeks I never knew of its being taken inside. We could almost see the growth and development of the infant.

Of course, you may not be so situated that you can keep your baby out of doors. But no matter where you live, do not fail to give the infant all the air possible. Day and night, all the months of the year, it must have fresh air if it is to thrive.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUESTIONS

N. L. D. Q.—What do you advise for moles?

A.—How can one reduce the abdomen?

A.—Electric treatments will help to make them less noticeable.

Q.—You must reduce the weight in general. Exercise daily in the open air.

J. P. Q.—What treatment will relieve varicose veins?

A.—Bandaging and wearing an elastic stocking during the daytime should give relief, also keeping off the feet as much as possible. If the trouble is of long standing more drastic treatment may be necessary.—Copyright, 1927.

Editorial Comment.

BRITISH PROPAGANDA.

England, it is held, has never forgotten or forgiven the loss of her colonies in the eighteenth century; even now, after the lapse of a century and a half, she is still plotting to recover them. Only one man, it seems, stands between her and her fell desire, and that is the mayor of Chicago.

The common man, however, is washed that Americans never need shall be British subjects, and, by the way of beginning, he intends to get rid of Mr. McAndrew.

Now, to us here all this seems rather like a nightmare. If there is an Englishman who looks at the map and feels melancholy because the whole of the North American continent is not colored red, he is highly exceptional, and he is not very vocal.

There are, to be sure, some who still dream of reunion in the shape of closer relations with the United States than with any other foreign country. Great play has been made in the Chicago controversy with a will made by Rhodes in the early days.

Perhaps the most serious complaint that America could make against us would be that we do not take enough interest in her and her affairs and life in general. But, if we are ignorant of the Americans, we must remember that they are ignorant of us, and that ignorance is a fertile soil for not only misunderstandings, but also the most fantastic legends, can flourish freely. There are probably but few persons in the United States who thoroughly share the beliefs which the mayor of Chicago professes to hold. But there are many who honestly think that we still cherish resentment against them on account of their liberty. It is not unnatural that this should be so. Feeling did run strong during the war of independence, and it is duly cherished in the histories which are used in American schools. But histories do not, hardly could, record the disappearance of this feeling, and the average American who does not know England or the English, retains from youth an impression that we still think of him as a rebel.

The remedy for this lies in knowing one another better, and here our common language, though its importance stands up to be exaggerated in other directions, stands in good stead. We can at least talk to one another and discover what we are all really like.—London Standard.

MR. COOLIDGE WANTS TO WHITTLE.

Mr. Coolidge persists in cryptic expressions. His "I do not choose" statement of August has not ceased to echo and now he comes forth with another bit of what may be vernacular Vermontese with a subtle meaning. Asked what he intended to do upon the completion of his term of office, he replied he was going back to Vermont. Asked then what he was going to do in Vermont he answered: "Well, for a year or two I am going to whittle."

Whittling is not necessarily merely idling. A man can do a deal of thinking while he is cutting neat shavings off a piece of even-grained wood. Some of the most profound philosophers have been whittlers. There is something conducive to constructive thought in the destructive action of reducing a stick or slab of pine board to splinters.

It is to be noted that this second expression contributes nothing to the elucidation of the first. The president says he is going to spend a year or two in Vermont whittling after his term expires. He has already said in the "I do not choose" statement that he records his present term as his final one. So, according to the schedule now established, the whittling program is to begin in March, 1929.

Students of political language may find much meat in this word "whittle." They may interpret it, granting conclusiveness to the word "choose" as to 1928, as signifying a view ahead to 1932. That would be stretching things a bit, but in the present conditions everything is being stretched out of normal proportions.

If Mr. Coolidge whittles for a year or two in Vermont after his term expires he will probably be enjoying in his own way, without trammel or care, what is his first real vacation for many years. He has been busy since his boyhood, constantly occupied. He has probably not enjoyed a real good whittle for forty years, and a couple of seasons of wood-chipping must now be a most alluring prospect.—Washington Star.

Who Would Be an Atom.

BY GARRETT P. SERVICE.

"Have you any idea how a person could make himself as small as an atom?"—C. K. Chicago.

Possibly in a laboratory they might help you become a heap of atoms, but to squeeze you into one atom I judge would be a task beyond the capacity of present-day science. But, then, you might resort to the philosophers, some of whom teach that things are not what they appear to the senses, but what they seem to the imagination. I have before described the strange case of a man in Pennsylvania who fell into a state in which things appeared to have diminished to but a small fraction of their real size. This description of the sense of vision imposed itself so completely on the man's mind and consciousness that, while he lasted he wondered what mysterious power could thus have shrunk the world around him.

But, if you wish to see what the imagination can do, you might essay the method of the late Dr. Coue, amending his formula to read: "Every day and in every way I am getting smaller and smaller." To this you might add as an encouragement to the mind-molding power: "I want to be an atom, and an atom I will be."

But, seriously, have you ever thought of the essential difference between a human being and an atom? The least of the difference consists in size. To shrink a man into an atom would be like shrinking a house into a brick. It would also, if existing theory is right, be like turning a man into a solar system, for the atom is described as resembling in general the sun and its revolving planets. But if you want to imagine yourself reduced to the very smallest object that physical science has yet indirectly measured, you must go deeper down than the atom and try to picture to yourself the nucleus of an atom. This, say the authorities at present recognized, has a diameter "of the order of" 10⁻¹²—ten to the minus twelfth power—centimeters. This is a mathematical form of expression which you will continually meet if you read much modern science. The minus sign of the exponent means that the twelfth power of ten is to be used as the denominator of a fraction whose numerator is unity, giving in this case, one million millionth of a centimeter.

The average atom is supposed to be a hundred thousand times larger than its nucleus. Yet the nucleus is assumed to contain nearly all the mass of the atom. It was a wise man who asserted as a principle of nature that "good thing, come in small bundles." It was a prophecy of the atom.

The nucleus of an atom appears to be the ne plus ultra of smallness, but, by the same token, it may be regarded as the most important thing in existence—the smallest of bundles, but a bundle of super-excellences, almost as mysterious as they are important.

You may find philosophers ready to discuss the question how the mind of a man reduced to atomic dimensions would be able to function, just as there was a time when the "schoolmen" disputed about the number of souls that could stand together on the point of a needle. But, foolish as all these things may seem to the mass of practical turn, they are not altogether without their intellectual interest. It is best to keep the mind active, even if, occasionally, its excursions lead only among lost meadows whose flowers fade before they can be carried home.—Copyright, 1927.

Dear Friends:

Tomorrow the citizens of Marion County will contribute to the American Red Cross. A large number of men and women are giving generously of their time and efforts to call at every home for the contributions to be made tomorrow afternoon.

Please have your envelope ready for those making the calls and they will give you a receipt and a window card.

Marion County needs $10,000 to carry on the work for 1928. Not a person will be paid anything for raising this fund. Every cent collected is to go to the treasury of the Red Cross. All of the workers are contributing not only their time but their money in the interests of humanity.

If a Red Cross worker should miss you at your home, please leave your envelope at any bank in Marion County next week and your subscription will be forwarded to the Marion Red Cross or turned over to your village auxiliary chairman. A receipt will be mailed you.

The citizens of Marion County have never failed in any worthy cause. Anticipating our needs for the coming winter and through the next year our executive committee has figured our budget as $10,000.

We know you will want to make your subscription as generous as possible and the executive committee expects to see this money expended in the best interest of our human welfare.

Sincerely yours,
J. F. Prendergast
CHAIRMAN

The executive committee urges every family to make one generous family contribution. Some families have enjoyed good health and prosperity and will want to make a generous contribution, knowing that others less fortunate cannot respond as liberally as they would like. To raise this fund larger subscriptions must come from those best able to help. Everyone must do his part to carry on this work.

In the City of Marion

On Sunday, Nov. 13, a corps of workers will visit all homes of the city to collect the subscriptions. This collection will start at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Six local organizations have been assigned to have charge of this work by wards, as follows:

- First ward, King's Daughters.
- Second ward, Marion Council, Knights of Columbus.
- Third ward, Canby Lodge, No. 51, Knights of Pythias.
- Fourth ward, Marion Lodge No. 402, Knights of Pythias.
- Fifth ward, Buckeye Aerie No. 337, Fraternal Order of Eagles.
- Sixth ward, Marion Lodge, No. 32, B. P. O. Elks.

In Marion County

In every village in Marion County, there is an auxiliary to The Marion County Chapter. Each Auxiliary will raise its funds and send its membership list to the Marion Chapter, and the memberships will be registered in the American Red Cross. The Marion Chapter will receive for its use none of these funds. The National Membership fee will be paid through the Marion Chapter and all of the funds raised, aside from the national fee, will be kept in each locality by the local auxiliary for local work.

The county auxiliaries will be in charge of the following well known citizens:

If You Are Missed Sunday

Should your home be missed Sunday, or your family be absent on the day of the Roll Call, take your contribution to any bank in the county. Your deposit will be collected and an official receipt will be issued to you.

The Red Cross greatly appreciates the cooperation of Marion County Banks in acting as depositories of funds during the Mississippi Flood Relief Campaign. The Marion County Banks will act in a similar capacity now. If you are missed take your contribution to any bank in the county.

REVIVAL SERVICE

Rev. W. R. Shively Preached on "Peace" at Church

"The peace of God comes to us through Jesus," said Rev. W. R. Shively in his sermon, "Peace," at the revival services last night at the Church of Brethren. Reverend Shively declared that international peace is not idealistic and emphasized the need of peace with God and fellowmen.

The service was well-attended. A feature of the music for the service was the selection, "The Workmen of God," by a chorus of young people. Several new members were enrolled. Sunday morning Reverend Shively will speak on the subject, "The Wise Builder" and will bring the revival to a close Sunday night with a sermon, "The Truth Revealed." There will be special music.

Reverend Shively has announced as his topic for the service tonight, "The Wise Choice."

TRUE BLUE CLASS IS ENTERTAINED AT HOME

A social hour, contest and lunch were enjoyed, the contest awards going to Misses Ellen Seccord and Ruth Reichardt. Plans were made for a Christmas exchange at the next regular meeting Friday, Dec. 9 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Cook, Windsor-st.

THREE RESPOND

Invitation Extended at Pilgrim Holiness Revival Services

Three responded to an invitation to the altar at the close of the revival services last night at Pilgrim Holiness Church. Rev. Melvin Pratt, Tere Hunte, Ind., will speak at the service tonight and also at services Sunday morning and afternoon. At the afternoon service he will give an account of his 20 years experience of service in rescue work among both men and women. "Life's Other Side" will be his subject. Rev. H. P. Fitch of Cincinnati, will speak Sunday night.

CALVARY EVANGELISTIC RITES WELL ATTENDED

At the well-attended revival service last night at Calvary Evangelical Church, Rev. Radebaugh, pastor, preached on the topic, "The Abundant Life," based on John 10:10. Luke, 8:14. "Nothing is more needed today than the abundant life, and to have it we must accept the peace of Christ, made on the cross 2,000 years ago and feed on spiritual things," the pastor said in part. Reverend Radebaugh has announced for his topic Sunday night, "Noah and the Ark."

INITIATION PLANNED

Plans were made for initiation and a social hour at the next regular meeting, Nov. 25 at the meeting of members of Ladies' Auxiliary, Buckeye Aerie No. 337, Order of Eagles, last night at Eagles' Hall. Things

Bangs
Wives
Hope Chests

BY EDNA S. DUTTON

THOSE who opine on each and every occasion that the female of the species is becoming more feminine will be chafed when they learn that a prominent actress drops in from Paris and casually announces that those alluring bangs and curly locks are to be in our midst again. Snip and curl just as much as you like and Paris, at least will say you are correct. Bangs enhance the optics and there's no denying that curls add that feminine touch that soft old lace gives to an otherwise plain gown, to say nothing of giving some of us at least a chance for once in our lives to detect in our own reflection a faint resemblance to Mary Pickford, but who wants to lose a half hour's good snooze just to adjust some twenty or more curls or see that one's bangs are lined up just so. Of course there's an opening there for some enterprising individual to manufacture a flock that can be pinned on, a la the good old days of switches and false coronets, or even go farther and have them in slot machines like the drinking cups in case one, in a moment of absent-mindedness, fared forth on a day's tour sans the adornment.

JUST what the wives of all those chaps who have won renown for themselves in song and story did while their husbands were out hewing publicity for himself has always been a mystery to me. Surely they deserved some notice if nothing more than just to be named amongst those present. What an opportunity Mrs. Paul Revere overlooked by not going out and just simply adjusting the belly-band on Paul's steed before he started out on his non-stop flight. Her name would then go ringing down through the ages along with her illustrious spouse for surely the least Paul could have said to some enterprising newscrier at the end of the journey would be that he never could have made the trip but for the knowledge that his pony's girth had been adjusted by loving hands. And Mrs. Plowman, whose husband was made famous by Mr. Grey, a casual hint that her brocade raps was fond of pancakes for breakfast would have brought a host of manufacturers products to her blue and white kitchenette for her adornment.

EVEN the seemingly heedless and carefree flapper has her serious moments and according to those who have them to sell, at some time or another either buys or has given her a "hope" chest. When it was that the first hope chest was chosen, no one knows but they are popular to say nothing of being useful. Some store their choice bits of linens and lace in chests which have come down to them through many generations while others store their treasures in chests of their own choosing and purchasing. There are chests and chests. Some are made so that they may be used as window seats and are particularly useful for the girl who is to live in small quarters while others are made to fasten under the bed so they are off the floor and can be pulled in and out drawer fashion. The trousseau chest, which used to be called a case and is designated as such in collector's parlance, was originally big, from five to seven feet wide but many brides of today prefer the extra, varying in size, which come in attractive Chinese and Japanese lacquer.

AID BODY MEETS

Members of the General Aid Society, Epworth M. E. Church, met Friday afternoon in the Junior Room of the church. Routine business was transacted and plans completed for the chicken dinner to be held next Thursday night at the church.

Lecture-Recital Club To Give Program on Monday

John Lacey will be the guest soloist when members of the Lecture-Recital Club present their program Monday night at 8 o'clock in the ballroom at Hotel Harding. He will be heard in two groups, his first, "Morning Hymns," Henschel, "In My Dreams I Sorrowed," Hise and "Secrets," Wolf, and second, "To Echoes of Music We Danced," Arensky, "If I Were What the Rose Is," Ambrose and "Hindu Song," Denderg. The program will be in charge of Mrs. E. W. Warwick.

Mrs. O. D. Anderson will be heard in a piano number "Miserere," by Travatore, by L. M. Gottschalk and Miss Margaret Hoover will play violin numbers, "Le Deluge," Saint-Saens and "Trasquille," Kreisler. Mrs. Leola Conner Moore will sing three numbers, "Death and the Maiden," Schubert, "Tell Me Why Are the Roses So Pale," Tschalkowsky, and "The Vain Suit," Brahms and Miss Wanda McMahon will play two piano numbers, "Polichinelle" and "Nocturne," Rachmaninoff.

The program is the second to be presented by the club members this season.

OAKLAND EVANGELICAL LEAGUE HOLDS MEET

Miss Edna Mae Lucas conducted devotional at the meeting of members of the Senior League of Oakland Evangelical Church last night at the home of Junior Early, Evanswood. Features of the entertainment were a reading by Miss Elizabeth Barnett and four numbers by a boys' quartet composed of James Hiltzer, Stanton Culp, Granville Brown, and Arthur Cressap. During the business session arrangements were made for a Christmas party at the home of Dean Vermillion, Davis-st., in four weeks.

ELKS' SOCIAL

Marion Lodge No. 32, B. P. O. Elks will open its social season next Thursday night, Nov. 17, with a 6 o'clock dinner, followed by a dance, invitations having been mailed to the lodge members yesterday. This is to be the first of a series of social events planned for the winter months.

RECEPTION FOR PASTOR

The congregational reception for Rev. Howard L. Olewiler, the new pastor of First Presbyterian Church, and his wife, will be held in the church parlors, at 8 o'clock Tuesday night. It was announced yesterday. All members of the congregation and friends are cordially invited to attend.

Sally's Shoulders

By BEATRICE BURTON, Author of "The Money Box"

Read This First
SALLY JEROME, pretty and vivacious, the mainstay of her family, the daughter of her father, who does not live with her mother, Mrs. JEROME enjoys poor health and does the housework morning and evening in the afternoon. BEAU and MILLIE, her brother and sister, give almost all of the upkeep of the house. Occasionally Mr. Jerome comes. The real load falls upon Sally's shoulders.

In the day below the Jeromes live. The only man in love with Sally is JOHN NYE, whose home is across the hall from Mr. Jerome's. Where Sally works, Mrs. JEROME, who is in love with her, says that she likes him and his money, but she really prefers a bond salesman named DAVIDSON.

BEAU "borrows" some money from the bank where he works and Sally has to find the money to pay it back. Then Beau clothes with MABEL, WILMOT and brings home to live.

MILLIE goes to the hospital for an operation and John Nye pays for expenses there. In the meantime Sally works for John Nye.

THIS MARION MAN FREE OF AGONIES OF INDIGESTION

He Tells How Konjola Banned Two Years of Stomach Trouble.

"I think I must be the happiest man in Marion, since Konjola has ended my stomach trouble, and I don't hesitate to endorse such a medicine," said Mr. J. H. Williams, well-known local citizen, living at 621 E. George St.; this city.

and when Mr. Peery retired from business Nye offers her a steady job. She refuses it, and goes into the wayward inn business with her Aunt EMILY JEROME. She is hurt because Millie has told her that John laughed at some things she did for him.

The inn does not prosper, and finally Aunt Em hires a jazz band and Sally and Ted put on an exhibition dance which draws the crowds. The whole family comes to live at the inn, too lazy to do their own housework without Sally. Then Mrs. Jerome goes out of town to her sick husband, and sends to Sally for whatever money she wants. Mabel's baby boy is born, and Beau starts running around with another woman. Mabel makes up her mind to go back to work until she has enough money to start housekeeping. While she is wondering where to look for a job Millie comes home with the news that she has quit her job, and adds that she'd like to "smack John Nye's face for him."

Now Go On with the Story

SALLY saw that she was trembling, with fury or some other powerful excitement. She was actually shaking all over as if she had a chill.

But no fever could have pained her cheeks more scarlet or lit brighter flames in her eyes.

"What on earth has happened?" Sally asked, wondering what John Nye could have done to make Millie look as she was looking now.

Suddenly she burst into tears.

"The men are all alike," she sobbed out, and then choked up for a moment. Sally had heard her say exactly that thing, two or three times before, when she had quit her job and walked out of an office.

Always her story had been the same story—that some man or other had "got fresh" or "acted fresh" with her.

And now she was saying that all the men were alike. Did that mean that John Nye, too, had "got fresh" and "acted smart"? Sally wondered, and as she wondered, that dull ache in her heart seemed to become more painful than ever—like an old wound.

"John Nye's no better than any one of the rest of them—Bursall or Judkins, or any of the rest!" Millie finished on a long-drawn sobbing breath.

that she's not telling us, old kid! I'm going to find out about it, though, if it takes me a year!"

Early in the afternoon, while Millie was sleeping upstairs, she came down to the kitchen where Sally and Aunt Em were cutting up chickens and covering them with flour for frying.

She was dressed for the street, and her hair was curled. Her face was rouged, and a strong smell of violet water came from her as she stood in the doorway.

"Where are you going, instead of staying at home and looking after your baby?" Aunt Em snapped at her. Aunt Em had no earthly use for Mabel and made no secret of the fact.

"I'm going down town for a job," Mabel snapped back at her.

Then she turned to Sally. "Darling, you'll look after my baby while I'm gone, won't you?" she asked. Mabel adored her child, even if she called it her brat, and did not know how to take care of it.

"You're a fool to take over her work the way you do," said Aunt Em when she was gone. "She has no business going to work in an office now, when she has a little new baby—and you haven't any time to look after that baby." Aunt Em knew nothing about Beau's Saturday night escapade, and about Mabel's determination to have a home of her own for him to support.

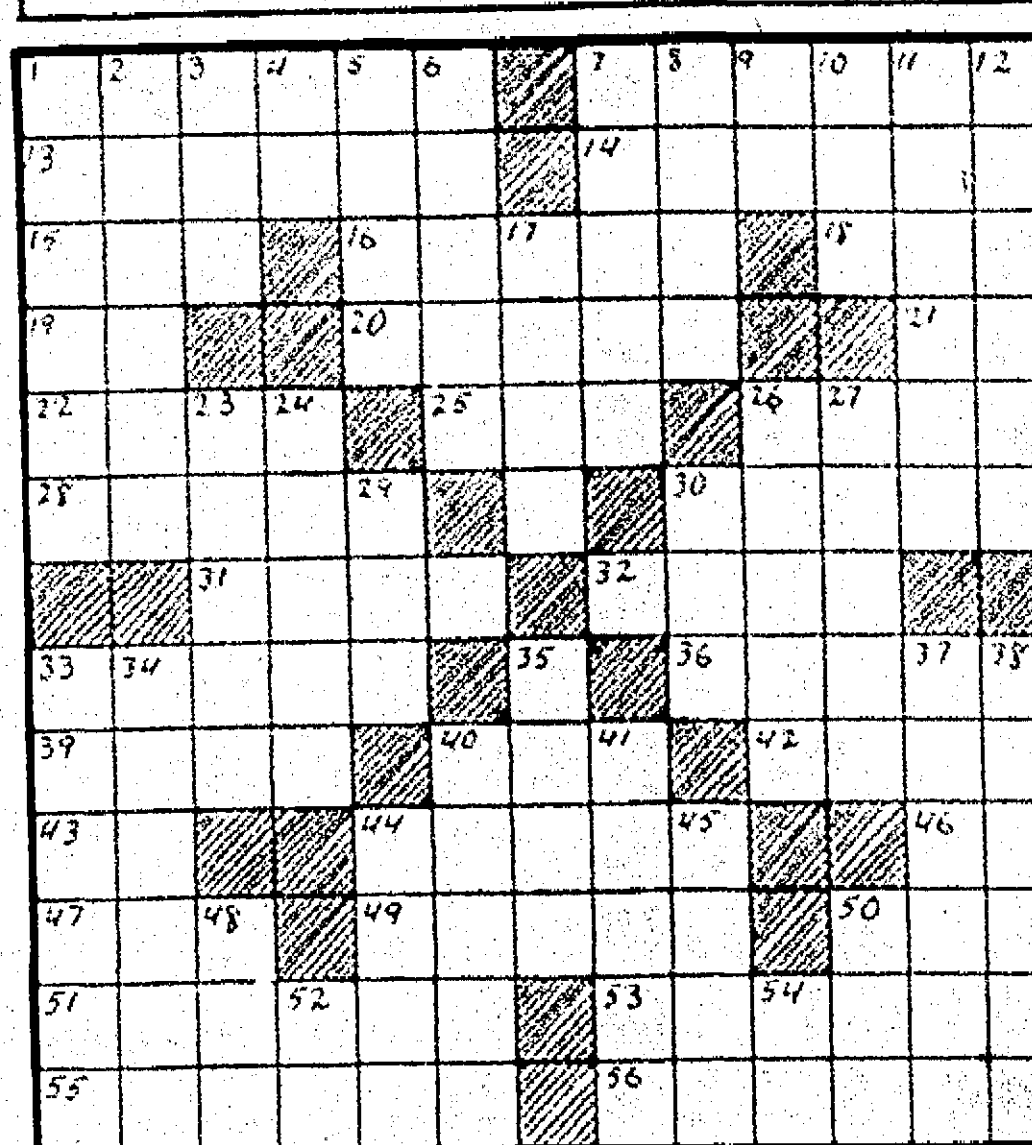

Sally did not enlighten her now. "Oh, she may as well work as hang around here doing nothing all day," was all she said to her aunt, and then let it go at that. They never talked much when they were working.

That night Mabel came home with the astounding news that she was taking Millie's position in John Nye's office.

She did not tell Millie about it. And she was not on speaking terms with her Don Juan husband so she did not mention it to him.

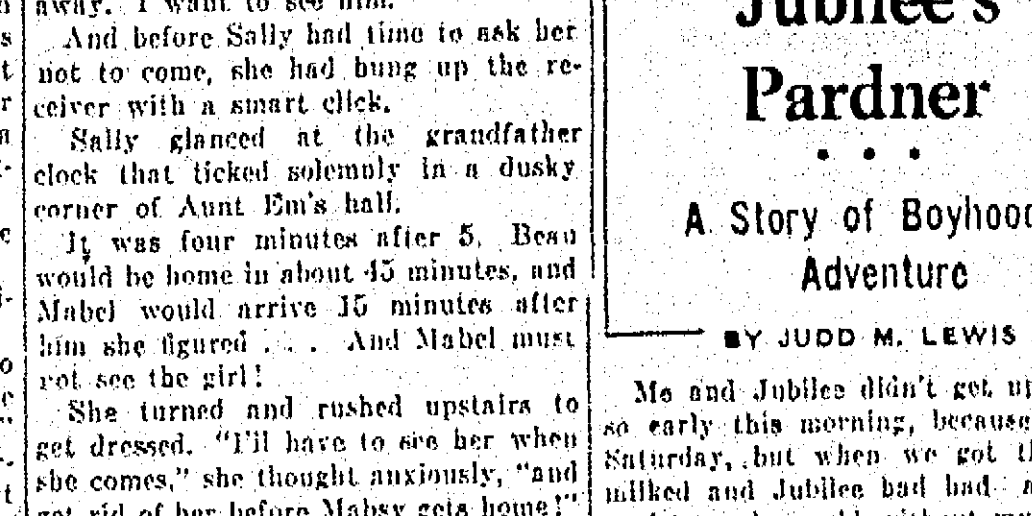

But she told Sally and Aunt Em about it proudly, coming straight through the house to them.

Herewith is the solution to yesterday's puzzle:

After a pause, "I'll be over there right away. I want to see him."

And before Sally had time to ask her not to come, she had hung up the receiver with a smart click.

Sally glanced at the grandfather clock that ticked solemnly in a dusky corner of Aunt Em's hall.

It was four minutes after 5. Beau would be home in about 45 minutes, and Mabel would arrive 15 minutes after him she figured. . . . And Mabel must not see the girl!

She turned and rushed upstairs to get dressed. "I'll have to see her when she comes," she thought anxiously, "and get rid of her before Mabel gets home!"

Once more the telephone rang, and she ran down stairs to answer it, hoping that by some lucky chance it might be Beau's lady love again.

But it was only a Western Union girl to read a telegram from Mrs. Jerome: "Send me a hundred dollars right away, and get a room ready for your father; bringing him home right away."

Love's Embers

A Sequel to "Revelations of a Wife"

By ADELE GARRISON

MADGE CALM
CURIOUSLY enough, I felt no anger at Dicky's wretched trade because breakfast was not ready and he was afraid he would miss his riding appointment with Eleanor Lincoln. Instead there was an indefinable relief at this giving way upon my husband's part to one of his old-time tantrums. He had begun one or two minor outbursts before, but had always checked himself and gone back into the icy courtyard with which by tacit agreement we had treated each other ever since Grace Draper's death and her plot to poison Dicky and point suspicion of the act to me had worked such tragic havoc with our lives.

I realized, as I found myself almost welcoming Dicky's temporary outburst, how great had been the strain of that unnatural cold formality with which we had invested our intercourse. But with feminine persistence I could not forbear the use of it myself. It made too good a weapon for me to discard it lightly.

"I am sorry," I said, "but I do not see how I can help matters by going to the kitchen. Katie is already preparing breakfast for the family, and, as you know, it will only upset her to hurry her. If you had told me last night that you wished to get off so soon I could have managed an earlier breakfast for you very easily."

Dicky glared at me and I knew that my frigid calmness was far more irritating to him than a swift temporary lash-out at him would have been.

"Yes, you could!" he gibed bitterly. "Fat chance I had of telling you anything last night—you were so busy listening to the bans of that old goat Veritien. And when he finally got away you and I rushed upstairs like girls at a boarding school essay to talk over the evening."

I felt a treacherous little thrill of triumph at his jealous resentment against my employer was so patent. But I let no bit of it creep into my voice.

"But it was so thrilling and interesting an evening," I said, with a weak reasonableness certain to infuriate any true husband looking for a conjugal fracas, as I knew Dicky was. "And surely you had a chance to tell me you wanted breakfast early before I went upstairs. I am afraid it won't be much use, but I'll try to see if I can't bring you something out here right away, unless—"

I paused, as if a happy solution of the whole matter suddenly had flashed upon me—"won't Miss Lincoln give you breakfast?" Mrs. Tiger gets there early, and she really serves as delicious breakfast dishes as does Katie."

Strategically I had reached the door before I made the suggestion, and I went swiftly through it before Dicky had a chance to answer it. But I was not far enough away to escape hearing the highly expressive salutation to powers supernatural which he voiced at my exit.

I was conscious of the eternal paradox which a woman's mind reflects when upon the heels of my malicious suggestion to Dicky I hurried into the kitchen and hurried Katie into the hasty preparation of a tray containing his favorite breakfast dishes which I myself carried to the veranda. All the way from the kitchen, hurried with the heavy tray, I asked myself why it is that a woman can subject a man to stiletto thrusts of mental discomfort with no consciousness of conscience, while her sense of duty will not permit her to deprive him of his favorite dishes.

With the courtesy which is a routine with Dicky, he hurried to me as soon as he saw my burden and took the tray from me. But his gallantry did not extend to his speech, for as he set it down he said acerbically: "Marty's crown adjusted comfortably, old dear?"

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure
By JUDD M. LEWIS

Me and Jubilee didn't get up quite so early this morning, because it was Saturday, but when we got the cows milked and Jubilee had had his many squirts as he could without my mother mixing the milk, and I had fed my face, almost all the bunch were there and they all had their skates along.

Feeble had a new pair of skates and had given her old pair to Mealy Gutwaltz. And it was the first pair of skates Mealy had ever had, and she was feeling proud and telling everyone how she was going to skate and was showing us by making her feet go in the snow in our yard, when all at once the barn door flew open and out charged both cows, and before I could head them off they were out of the gate, and up the street on their way to the pasture, and Jubilee and the other dogs was going after them barking their heads off and making them go all the faster.

I went out to the barn to see if they had broke their ropes, but the ropes had been broken off as nice as could be and the manure hole was open. Then I went out and looked at the bunch to see who wasn't there, and some of these days if I ever do get to be a prut I will make the Lost Bag of "ripe walk the plank and I will laugh whilst he is doing it. It is against the law for everyone but a prut to make anyone walk the plank."

None of the bunch would go with me because they all wanted to go and skate, so I told Spider he could use my skates till I was done, and me and Jubilee started for the pasture. A cow has not got any more sense than just enough to be a cow. It thinks because there is grass in the pasture in the summer there will be some there all winter. It took a long time to go out there and drive them back and I didn't think about taking the horse till I was half ways there. I was probably too used.

Then when I got back Spider had went somewhere with my skates. Mealy said Spider knew a pond where it was better skating and had went there; but she didn't know where it was. I told him to keep them till I came for them, but didn't tell him where, so the crook snuck off with them and I didn't know where to go for them and he kept them all day. I only could get my skates and do my skaters. But there was a lot of fun watching Mealy make skates all over the pond. But she kept on trying. I went to bed early. When Spider brings my skates back I am going to smear him.

Wanted: More Joiners

Rogers Jumps into Merry Old Business of Promoting for Dear Old U. S. A.; "America Only" Sister Society of Bill Hale's Following

BY WILL ROGERS

A little known fact is just what I read in the papers. Now of course you all know about Major Bill Thompson and his "America First" society. He had asked all the old boys that layed out the Constitution didn't know much, that the country should be divided up in various pretty liberal layout. But after 100 or more years, it was immediately seen that this plan was no good that the old boys that layed out the Constitution didn't know much, that the country should be divided up in various Societies and cliques. So that brings us down to this generation, who really are showing us just what to do to prove that we are not against the old Fatherland.

Have To Join, Now

We used to think that we were for it as long as we didn't do anything against it. But now we find we got to join something and announce that we are for it. We have got to wood out these ones that are not 100 per cent. We got to get around these luncheons more, and sing some get-together songs. This old thing of eating at home with the folks is never going to get you anywhere. There is no real Americanism in that. Let's get down to the club and do some shouting and get some spirit into the old land.

Going to be an election coming along pretty soon and we want to stick by the members of the club against all the outsiders. "There is a lot of these people just sitting around and not doing anything for American spirit and they are undermining the very principals of our Government." So you see it's stuff like that that will save us. If these kind of clubs and societies hadn't been formed just when they was, this would have been a fine looking country now. So get into a club as soon as you can. I don't care what it is just so it's banded together to make somebody else's life miserable and yours great.

You'll Be Narrow-minded

If you don't belong to some of these clubs or societies, why the first thing you know you will be getting narrow-minded enough to want to give everybody an even break regardless of everything. So that's why we got to get busy and install some spirit. You see a lot of people live here and there mean well by the country but they just want get out and announce that they are happy to be here.

Now I have looked over all the clubs and none of them seem to have enough scope, or broad minded enough ideal. So that is why as I told you a few weeks ago that I wanted to get this Society going. "America First" is all right, but it allows somebody else to be second. Now sometimes a thing can be almost as good as something that's first. So that's the thing that my Society avoids. It's with the whole idea of there being no one else. In other words I am just taking the spirit and foundation of other clubs and societies and making them broader.

They are against something. (They got to be against something or they wouldn't be formed.) Well, mine improves on any of theirs; it's against everything. I can take my "America Only" idea and eliminate wars. The minute we extinguish all other nations there will be no more wars, unless it's a civil war among ourselves, and that of course we can take care of right here at home without a shipping board. I am getting a lot of applications already, real red-blooded go-getter Americans, that have seen this country trampled under foreign feet enough, and they are right out in the open.

"Come on, I'm against everything!"

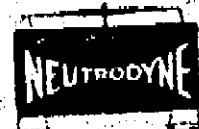

When the Jazz King's do their hottest stuff...

...You're there with a Crosley"

Copper coil shieldings and neutralized radio frequency stages are only two of nine major features of the Crosley Bandbox receiver at $55.

Crosley's leadership in the popular price radio field is now augmented by license to use the most important radio principles of The Radio Corporation of America, The General Electric Co., The Westinghouse Co., The American Telephone & Telegraph Co., and the Hazeltine and The Latour Corporation.

These combined principles are enabling this amazing Crosley Bandbox to sweep the entire radio field.

NEUTRODYNE

Such resources at his command have resulted in the greatest Crosley triumph—a 6 tube receiver with all elements completely shielded—absolutely balanced in its radio frequency stages and including features and refinements at a price of $55, which are the chief talking points of sets twice its price and more.

This Bandbox is totally shielded. Copper shields cover coils, cadmium-plated steel covers the condensers. Wiring is completely shielded from both. The Bandbox is completely balanced. It is a genuine neutrodyne.

The Bandbox is equipped with Accumulators—secondary adjustments to be used only on weak, distant signals and when cruising for far-away stations that ordinary one dial sets miss entirely. The "Bandbox" possesses a volume control by which strong local dancing volume can be reduced to a whisper without distortion or detuning.

NEUTRODYNE

The Bandbox operates with a single tuning knob which turns an illuminated dial. This feature for shadowy corners is greatly appreciated.

The Bandbox is easily installed in console cabinets being so designed that a few screws removed from the escutcheon and the bottom releases chassis from the outside metal case. See it at Crosley dealers now!

COOLIDGE APPROVES PLAN TO RAISE VERMONT FUND

Washington, Nov. 12.—President Coolidge has approved a plan to raise a large fund by public subscription for the benefit of the flood sufferers in his own state of Vermont.

Sen. Porter H. Dale, Republican, of Vermont, accompanied by Col. Joseph Fairbanks, president of the Vermont Association of Washington, obtained Mr. Coolidge's assent and co-operation following a conference at the White House today. Details will be made public later.

"Why CAN'T we make a GO of It?"

"LOTS of couples we know have no greater income than us—in fact, many less—yet they seem to be getting something for their work. They're making themselves financially more secure all the time while we're always up against it."

The answer is in regulating your outgo so that it stays always a certain distance within your income. And this calls for budgeting the family income. Let us explain how you can make it a simple and automatic matter, one that almost works itself. No obligation.

RE-CHECKING OF VOTE NEARLY COMPLETED

Final Tabulation Expected To Be Finished Early Next Week

Work of re-checking the vote cast in Tuesday's election in Marion County was near completion at the board of elections office today, the official count being tabulated on all candidates and issues with the exception of the contest for county board of education.

The final tabulation on this contest will probably be completed today or Monday, it was stated at the office of the board. J. B. Conley and S. W. Almondinger, present members of the board, are leading E. E. Beers, the third man in the race, by substantial margins, and their re-election is assured.

Official count on the $80,000 courthouse bond issue, completed yesterday, was the same as the unofficial tabulation, showing that voters registered a majority of 4,110 against the proposal. Four candidates have filed their campaign expense accounts in accordance with provisions of the law which require these reports within 10 days after election. Yesterday Emory M. Murphy, Republican, re-elected president of the council, reported having spent $20.07.

HOMES UNDERMINED

Shifting Sand and Gravel Add New Flood Problem

Boston, Nov. 12—Flood areas of Vermont and Massachusetts had a new problem today as shifting sand and gravel undermined streets and homes.

A score of houses were made unsafe for occupancy in north Walpole, N. H., and several cave-ins were reported from West Springfield, Mass., foundations of many homes in both communities were disturbed. In Massachusetts, Hampden Memorial Bridge was closed today to heavy traffic and trucks were barred from the streets until a complete survey was made.

Fresh water has been piped to isolated Waterbury, Vt., and an epidemic averted.

and J. M. Schneider, Democrat, elected councilman in the fifth ward, defeating Charles Schmidt, present council member, listed $5. Both amounts were spent for advertising, the reports showed.

NEW SPEED MARK

Maj. Mario de Bernardi, Italian flying ace, smashes all existing speed records by making well over 300 miles an hour in his hydroplane in test at Venice Lido course at Italy.

SUIT ANSWER FILED BY PARTY DEFENDANT

Belle Harrison Asks That Right of Dower in Property Be Determined

Belle Harrison, party defendant in a suit brought by J. W. Jacoby against Walter T. Harrison and others, filed her answer today asking that her right of dower in the property involved be determined and that the amount be paid her out of money received from the plaintiff.

In his suit, Jacoby represents that he has completed payments for a property in the city of Marion under terms of a land contract with Harrison and asks that Harrison be required to deliver a deed for the property.

Suit Dismissed
The divorce suit of Ruth A. Siffrt against Harry C. Siffrt has been dismissed by Judge Schofield at request of both plaintiff and defendant. The dismissal included both the petition filed by Mrs. Siffrt and cross petition filed by her husband.

Granted Leave to Plead
In the suit of Esther Welser against John Cudd and others, leave has been given W. T. Jones, one of the party defendants, right to plead by Nov. 10. The suit was brought to marshal liens against property owned by Cudd and also requests sale of the property.

Marriage License
A marriage license has been issued to William H. Bemis, 31 attorney, Cleveland, and Alice McNeill, Marion.

BLABON'S Linoleum

has been increasing so rapidly in popularity as a floor-covering for every room in the home. Blabon floors are

Waterproof—Spotproof—Mothproof Easy to Clean—Sanitary

and therefore require but little attention to keep them clean. As they will wear for years, they are most economical.

Blabon patterns have been designed with a view to supplying that universal demand for more color and increased beauty in floor-coverings.

We want you to see the many colorful Blabon patterns we are displaying and let us tell you how much it will cost to cover any of your floors.

NEARLY 300 PYTHIAN SISTERS AT MEETING

Venus Temple Host to Groups Throughout District

LaRue, Nov. 12—Two hundred and eighty Pythian Sisters, representing temples in Marion, Morrow and Hardin Counties were present at the district convention held at the K. of P. hall here yesterday as the guests of Venus Temple.

Temple of LaRue. The convention next year will be held at Kenton. Grand Chief Ida M. Henry of LaRue headed the group of Pythian officials attending, which included District Deputy Chief Dora Leese of Forest and District Trustee Jessie Leese of Kenton. Greetings to the delegates were given during the final session last night by Grand Chief Henry.

Three sessions were held during the convention. Routine business was disposed of at the morning gathering, which opened at 10:15 o'clock. Luncheon at noon was served by members of the Legion Auxiliary.

During the afternoon, initiatory, moral and installation ceremonies were held. District officers officiated for the initiation and members of Canby Temple, No. 132, of Marion, had charge of the memorial service, which was given an additionally impressive touch by a basket of flowers as a memorial to fallen heroes of the World War.

Kenton Temple members directed the installation. Dinner was served the delegates at the Baptist church by the ladies of the congregation.

A playlet in which members of Venus Temple carried the various roles and the greeting of Grand Chief Henry were the features of the enjoyable night program. The climactic event of the convention was a dance, which followed the final night session.

RICHWOOD DEFEATS LA RUE HIGH ELEVEN

Early Season Defeat Is Avenged in Armistice Day Game, 20-6

LaRue, Nov. 12—Richwood avenged the defeat handed its high school football team earlier in the season here yesterday in the Armistice Day game by scoring a 20-to-6 victory in a return meeting. The traditional result of the two schools in their yearly two-game series was maintained, as several years have elapsed since either has gained two consecutive victories. In the first game this year, LaRue won, 19 to 12.

Bradley and Cramer starred for Richwood, the first with his consistent linebacking, which was alone responsible for the first touchdown following a 40-yard drive, and the second for two sparkling runs of 69 and 30 yards respectively, each of which resulted in touchdowns. M. Allen, halfback, scored LaRue's lone counter following a series of passes and plunges.

MISSIONARY UNION

Mrs. W. M. Keller Presides at Meeting in Prospect

Prospect, Nov. 12—The Missionary Union of Prospect, held an interesting meeting Friday afternoon, at the Reformed Church, with Mrs. W. M. Keller presiding. Miss Lucile Thomas presided at the organ and opened the meeting with a prayer. Mrs. Emory Roberts had charge of the devotion, reading the scripture lesson with comments and prayer by Mrs. R. W. Herberster. Mrs. W. H. Davids and Mrs. Glenwood Beard. Mrs. Harry Lodwig and Mrs. Paul Kyle followed with a duet, "All for Jesus." Minutes were read and the treasurer's report given by Mrs. Paul Kyle. Mrs. Ray Stratton as chairman of the nominating committee gave the report, and the following officers were elected for the new year: president, Mrs. A. M. Chapin; first vice president, Mrs. Harry Lodwig; second vice president, Mrs. R. W. Herberster; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Charles Colliner. Mrs. Charles Seerist and Mrs. Edna Griffith sang a duet "Something To Do." The address of the afternoon was given by Mrs. M. C. Walker, of Carey, on the subject, "Training for Service," giving as a part of her talk, the flower garden story. A solo was then given by Rev. S. F. Porter, of the Baptist Church. After singing, Rev. R. C. Windhorst pronounced the benediction.

Scoring Greatest Success in All Chrysler History

THE ILLUSTRIOUS NEW CHRYSLER

MOST unusual, even for Chrysler, has been the reception given to the illustrious New "72."

But no other result could have been possible, because no other car combines such rare quality and value.

Before the "72," no car in the $1500 class or even in the $2000 group provided counterweighted 7-bearing crankshaft in a 75 horsepower engine; spring ends anchored in blocks of live rubber; and long, roomy, handsome bodies in such correct taste.

Every Chrysler Dealer is eager to show you the illustrious New "72," to put it through its paces. Only by riding in it and driving can you familiarize yourself with this new performance, this new smartness that has been responsible for the greatest success in all Chrysler history.

Illustrious New Chrysler "72" prices—Roadster (with rumble seat), $1495; Sport Roadster (with rumble seat), $1525; 2-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1545; Coupe (4-passenger), $1595; Royal Sedan, $1595; Sedan (4-door, close-coupled), $1695; Crown Sedan, $1745; Convertible (with rumble seat), $1745; f. o. b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax. Chrysler dealers are in position to extend the convenience of time payments.

New Chrysler "Red-Head" Engine—designed to take full advantage of high-compression gas, is standard equipment on the roadsters of the "52," "62," "72" and sport roadster of the Imperial "80." It is also available, at slight extra cost, for all other body types. For a reasonable charge it can be applied to earlier Chrysler cars now in use.

Harding Defeats Delaware High 32-0 In Slow Game

Morrison Runs 125 Yards For Three Touchdowns; Reserves Show Good Form

Only Few Minutes; Entire Squad Gets in Game; Red and Black Make 12 First Downs to One for Visitors

BY TOM BUCHANAN
Sports Editor of The Star
The Delaware High School football team, which was defeated by Harding High School, lost a game that was a real test of the team's ability. The Delaware team, which was defeated by Harding High School, lost a game that was a real test of the team's ability. The Delaware team, which was defeated by Harding High School, lost a game that was a real test of the team's ability.

Harding kicked again and Delaware had the ball on its own 35 yard line. Delaware punted and Morrison returned 15 yards to the original line of scrimmage. The Delaware line braced and Harding was forced to kick. Delaware returned the punt, Morrison receiving on the 45 yard line, near the west side of the field, zigzagged across the field for another touchdown. Two would be tacklers were hurt in attempting to bring the runner down. Perry's kick was short. The score was Harding 19, Delaware 0.

Delaware kicked and Morrison received on the yard line and returned to the 45 yard line but Harding was penalized 25 yards for clipping. A pass Morrison to Castner was good for 12 yards and after three tries at the Delaware line Morrison kicked as the quarter ended.

Delaware punted and Harding took the ball in the middle of the field. On the second down Morrison hurdled the first defense line and raced 50 yards.

for his third touchdown. Perry's kick was blocked. The score was: Harding 25, Delaware 0.

Delaware kicked off to Snyder who returned to Harding's 33 yard line. Castner failed to gain and Tuttle got five yards through right guard. On the next play Tuttle made a beautiful shoe-string catch of Morrison's pass. It was six inches short of a first down.

Castner got four yards and first down on the next play. A pass was incomplete and a reverse lateral pass forward pass also incomplete and Harding was penalized five yards.

Sends in Varsity

Coach Bohrer sent the first team in again. The only two to stay on the bench were Stafford and Zimmer. Stafford has a bad foot and side as a reminder of the Mansfield game and Zimmer has a knee that is none too strong.

Morrison punted to the Delaware 30 yard line. A pass was good for 20 yards and Delaware's only first down of the game. Another pass was tried which Garrett intercepted. McAninch made a nice gain on a long end run, using a good stiff arm to advance.

McAninch's pass was incomplete and on the next down Garrett plunged through center for first down. McAninch gained five yards on a lateral pass and another pass, Morrison to Garrett, gained first down. McAninch slipped through left tackle and cut across the field for a first down. It was just short of a touchdown and on the next down McAninch went over. Vanderhoff's kick was good and the score was: Harding 32, Delaware 0.

The Red and Black third squad was sent in to replace the varsity, and the game ended a minute later without further scoring.

Harding's reserves gave a very creditable demonstration of football after they once got started. Delaware was unable to make a first down through the line and the backs did some nice work.

Present indications are that Coach Bohrer will have lots of material with which to fill the places left vacant by the eight graduating varsity players.

Shelby Keeps First Place in N.C.O. League

TWO GREAT TEAMS TO CLASH WHEN ARMY MEETS IRISH IN NEW YORK

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—That personal Army-Notre Dame act, good that it never has to stand a low in these parts, will be back on New York this afternoon, bringing with it a new trick which will be a very good one even if they aren't able to do it. They will try to place 150,000 people in 70,000 seats, the former representing the approximate demand for tickets.

It looked the part of a twenty-dollar game, at that, for the Irish, with victories over Navy, Indiana, Georgia Tech and others and a tie with Minnesota, were said to be a typical Notre Dame outfit and the Army unit, eight percent, a team in character, had only an excuse for defeat by Yale against its record. Even money, according to no less an authority than Rockne himself, was the only true price.

However, general sentiment favored a Notre Dame victory, it being figured that the game with Minnesota last Saturday had a great moral effect upon a team that might have been getting ideas about itself. For purposes of psychology, the Irish tie with the Gophers was worth ninety-nine cents on the dollar compared with West Point's last two games, in which it scored more than eighty points.

Psychology also rested with Rockne in the selection of his starting line-up, whereas the Army had only one first team and could do no less than start it. Rockne had to select with the added alternative of nominating a combination eleven as he did against Milwaukee.

This consisted of a first string line and a second string backfield and, being that Notre Dame scored its touchdown with this combination in operation, the natural guess would be that Rockne will repeat this afternoon.

Two Great Teams
For one thing, his original "shock troops" were second to no team in the country to suit Rockne. For another, that experienced and heavy Cadet line looked entirely too strong to be trifled with by a lot of gent who hope to be good next year.

The game will introduce one fine forward line to another and send two great backfields into action—in brief, two unusually good teams. The Army will be outnumbered in backs but not outclassed. The Irish will have two sets of backs, namely Niemi, Chevalier, Wynne and Morrison, Riley, McMahon and Collins for all or any part of the next three.

In this way, Rockne will have fresh men available to offset the dashes of Wilson, Cagle and Murrell the three stars of the Army backfield and, if you don't think this will be a factor in a hard football game, you are entitled to at least one more guess.

The Army blew the Yale game because of faulty generalship on the goal line. Whether this will be repeated today with Navy, a new man at quarterback, remained to be seen but the natural supposition was that Notre Dame would receive the better team direction.

In the line, the thing was a stand off, much of Notre Dame's running game being hyped out on how well Polak at right tackle might be able to clear the path for the runs on Planagan and Niemi. Much, too, depended upon the work of Smith at guard and Voelisch at end, for those veteran wings of the Army, Horn and Harbald, must be pushed out to make the line plays click and neither of them were noted in the past for the ease with which they have been pushed.

Probable lineup
However, granted a dry field, Notre Dame generally was conceded to have the class.

The probable lineup: Notre Dame: Harbald, Hurlbut, Mahoney, Hammack, Law, Mynihan, Seaman, Murrell, Doran, Born, Collier, McKinney, Cagle, Wilson, Chevalier, Niemi, Murrell, F. Collins, O'Brien, Tufte, Umpire—W. Eckersall, Chicago. Linesman—J. Watt, Missouri. Field Judge—A. C. Tyler, Princeton.

The finishing order was Garrett, Welch, Ball and Kirby of Muskingum, tied for first place; James, Denison, Comin, Muskingum; Drake, Rhoadaruck, Robinson and Kelly, all of Denison.

Richland County Outfit Trounces Big Red 6-0 In Armistice Day Game

Upstaters Score in First Period After Long Pass Puts Ball on Three-Yard Line; Mansfield Near Touchdown in Last Period

SHELBY high school continued to lead the North Central Ohio League football race. The upstate boys kept their state clean yesterday by handling Mansfield a 6 to 0 kicking.

While the Shelleys have a clean record so far they have been swimming in shallow water and not until yesterday did they get in where it was deep. And the water was plenty deep as those who saw the Big Red last Saturday can testify. Before Shelby can claim any league honors she must ride over the rapids of Harding and Bucyrus.

Next Saturday Harding goes to Shelby and the following Saturday Shelby goes to Bucyrus. If the upstaters come through both struggles they are entitled to first honors. Although Shelby held Mansfield scoreless, a feat which Harding didn't do, the chances are about even up on the game next Saturday. But if there is anything one way or another it would seem to be in Shelby's favor.

About all that the Red and Black can hope for now in the way of league honors is a tie for first place with Shelby and to get that it must beat Shelby. There is little doubt but that Shelby will come through the Bucyrus game with little difficulty, although Monette, the Bucyrus quarterback, and overconfidence beat the Red and Black here two weeks ago.

It was a long pass to Shaw, Shelby, left end, that was responsible for the touchdown. Shaw was stopped on the three yard line.

Substitutions: Mansfield: Bride for Carver; Shaskey for Bride; Kyle for Angle; Augh for Davis; Bride for Shaskey; Carver for Perkins.

Shelby: Lelberg for Miller; Carle for Shaw; Shaw for Hess.

Officials: Ohio State, umpire; Dutcher, Heidelberg, headlinesman.

Caldwell will be a guest of honor at the annual old Yale barn party of the Yale Club of Stonelair, the night of Dec. 8; it was announced today just by way of showing the general attitude of kindness that exists toward the ineligible star.

The giant Yale bowler will be filled to overflowing at game time with a human mass of 80,000, or thereabouts, with thousands more standing disconsolately unable to gain admission.

The team will probably line up as follows:

MUSKINGUM WINS HOMECOMING GAME WITH POLAR BEARS

Free Scoring Contest Dropped by Ohio Northern 38 to 21

New Concord, Nov. 12.—Muskingum celebrated its homecoming here Friday by beating Ohio Bill Meredith's Ohio Northern football team, 38 to 21.

Larick, G. Clark and Shaskey starred for the Muskies, while Nussbaum, Campbell and Evans showed up well for the polar bears. The first half ended with Muskingum leading 12 to 0, but in the second half the game developed into a free-scoring contest, with plenty of thrills for the spectators.

Score by quarters:

Muskingum 12 0 11 12—35
Ohio Northern 0 0 7 14—21

NEARLY 300 PYTHIAN SISTERS AT MEETING

Venus Temple Host to Groups Throughout District

LaRue, Nov. 12.—Two hundred and eighty Pythian Sisters, representing temples in Marion, Morrow and Hardin Counties were present at the district convention held at the K. of P. hall here yesterday as the guests of Venus

Temple of LaRue. The convention next year will be held at Kenton. Grand Chief Ida M. Henry of Lorain headed the group of Pythian officials attending, which included District Deputy Chief Dora Lease of Forest and District Trustee Jessie Lease of Kenton. Greetings to the delegates were given during the final session last night by Grand Chief Henry.

Three sessions were held during the convention. Routine business was disposed of at the morning gathering, which opened at 10:15 o'clock. Luncheon at noon was served by members of the Legion Auxiliary. During the afternoon, initiatory, ne-moral and installation ceremonies were held. District officers officiated for the initiation and members of Candy Temple, No. 152, of Marion, had charge of the memorial service, which was given an additionally impressive touch by a basket of flowers as a memorial to fallen heroes of the World War. Kenton Temple members directed the installation. Dinner was served the delegates at the Baptist church by the ladies of the congregation.

A playlet in which members of Venus Temple carried the various roles and the greetings of Grand Chief Henry were the features of the enjoyable night program. The climactic event of the convention was a dance, which followed the final night session.

RICHWOOD DEFEATS LA RUE HIGH ELEVEN

Early Season Defeat Is Averted in Armistice Day Game, 20-6

LaRue, Nov. 12.—Richwood averted the defeat handed its high school football team earlier in the season here yesterday in the Armistice Day game by scoring a 20-6 victory in a return meeting. The traditional result of the two schools in their yearly two-game series was maintained, as several years have elapsed since either has gained two consecutive victories. In the first game this year, LaRue won, 10 to 13.

Brisley and Cramer starred for Richwood, the first with his consistent line-bucking, which was alone responsible for the first touchdown following a 40-yard drive, and the second for two sparkling runs of 60 and 30 yards respectively, each of which resulted in touchdowns. M. Allen, halfback, scored LaRue's lone counter following a series of passes and plunges.

MISSIONARY UNION

Mrs. W. M. Keller Presides at Meeting in Prospect

Prospect, Nov. 12.—The Missionary Union of Prospect, held an interesting meeting Friday afternoon, at the Reformed Church, with Mrs. W. M. Keller presiding. Miss Lucile Thomas presided at the organ and opened the meeting with a prelude. Mrs. Emory Roberts had charge of the devotion, reading the scripture lesson with comments and prayer by Mrs. W. H. Harbster. Mrs. W. H. Harbster and Mrs. Glenwood Board, Mrs. Harry Ludwig and Mrs. 1751 Kyle followed with a duet, "All for Jesus." Minutes were read and the treasurer's report given by Mrs. Paul Kyle. Mrs. Ray Stratton as chairman of the nominating committee gave the report, and the following officers were elected for the new year: president, Mrs. A. M. Chapin; first vice president, Mrs. Harry Ludwig; second vice president, Mrs. R. W. Harbster; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Charles Colman; Mrs. Charles Scribner and Mrs. Edna Griffith sang a duet "Something to Do." The address of the afternoon was given by Mrs. D. C. Walker, of Carey, on the subject, "Training for Service," giving as a part of her talk, the flower garden story. A solo was then given by Mrs. S. F. Porter, of the Baptist Church. After singing Rev. R. C. Windhorst pronounced the benediction.

TAKE PART IN RALLY

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Kauble, Cleveland, took part in an Epworth League rally of leagues of Hardin County last night at the First M. E. Church, Kenton. Officers were elected, and routine business transacted.

Scoring Greatest Success in All Chrysler History

CHRYSLER

Counterweighted 7-Bearing Crankshaft and Rubber Spring Mountings Made Possible for the First Time at Such Prices

MOST unusual, even for Chrysler, has been the reception given to the illustrious New "72."

But no other result could have been possible, because no other car combines such rare quality and value.

Before the "72," no car in the $1500 class or even in the $2000 group provided counterweighted 7-bearing crankshaft in a 75 horsepower engine; spring ends anchored in blocks of live rubber; and long, roomy, handsome bodies in such correct taste.

Every Chrysler dealer is eager to show you the illustrious New "72"; to put it through its paces. Only by riding in it and driving can you familiarize yourself with this new performance, this new smartness that has been responsible for the greatest success in all Chrysler history.

Illustrious New Chrysler "72" prices—Roadster (with rumble seat), $1495; Sport Roadster (with rumble seat), $1525; 2-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1545; Coupe (4-passenger), $1595; Royal Sedan, $1595; Sedan (4-door, close-coupled), $1695; Crown Sedan, $1745; Convertible Coupe (with rumble seat), $1745; f. o. b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax. Chrysler dealers are in position to extend the convenience of time payments.

New Chrysler "Red-Head" Engine—designed to take full advantage of high-compression gas, is standard equipment on the roadsters of the "52," "62," "72" and sport roadster of the Imperial "80." It is also available, at slight extra cost, for all other body types. For a reasonable charge it can be applied to earlier Chrysler cars now in use.

"A Connecticut Yankee" is Gayest Musical Show On Broadway at Present Time

Genesis of Book is Mark Twain's Popular Burlesque. Good Tunes Provided; Glenn Hunter's Play Not So Happy; Neither is That of Frances Starr

BY BUSHNELL DIMOND
NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—For and away the gayest, most lustrous and liveliest new musical entertainment in town is "A Connecticut Yankee" at the Vanderbilt. In it you will find the sharp scent of satire with some of the most brilliantly humorous settings and costumes that have come this way since the late "Foggy Ann."

You will also, if your ears are alert, listen to the most caressing and provocative tunes that Composer Richard Rogers, has ever shaken out of his harmonium. The intricate, though not too intricate, lyrics of Lorenz Hart are calculated to provide a passing amusement of fun. All in all, a grand and carefully conceived, cunningly produced, and acted and sung with youthful felicity and brains of the book is, of course, Mark Twain's popular burlesque of somber nobility in the non-Palmolive era, and the collaborators have been both respectful to the late Mr. Clemens and inventive in the matter of adaptation. Herbert Fields, the librettist, has, it is true, pushed the mockery over the brink of belief now and then. To me it seemed justified and hilarious, even though the melting rhythms of Mr. Rogers could stand extension at the expense of cloy in the acting text.

Four Good Numbers
But the best of the evening is Mr. Rogers' contribution in three or four numbers that beat the more adult musicians of current productions all hollow. There is, to start with, the now internationally known "My Heart Stood Still," transplanted, at great cost, from London's "One Damn Thing After Another." This, with its old little pauses and melancholy descending figure, is indeed a clever piece of work. But its sentiment is not nearly so gratifying as the incomparably impudent and engaging "Thou Swell," which keeps the pace of the show. "I Feel at Home with You," the chorus of the sandwich men, and "Ecce, What Do You Say?" will offer provender to the restaurant orchestra during the intermission.

The Messrs. Fields and Andrews, the producers, have done well in their casting. The tiny and gently electric Constance Carpenter, who came over with the first Charles K. Williams, plays the embattled Allsande with neat taste, and there is a real touch of grotesque, grimace in the Merlyn of William Morris. But William Caxton, who plays the Yankee, is just a shade too Broadway and decidedly too mature for the role. He must have done a lot of practicing in front of his pier glass to achieve that effect of galvanic amnesia.

Humor Falls
The arrival of Glenn Hunter in a new play is generally an interesting event, and the production of "Behold This Dreamer," by Fulton Oursler and Aubrey Kennedy, at the Cort, is no exception. The interest, this time, is stimulated by wonderment at Mr. Hunter's acceptance of the script. The tale the authors tell has to do with a striving young idealist, hampered by the mundane vagaries of his family, and the point of the play is his discovery that he can find reality only inside an asylum, where he daubs away, with the world outside merely a faded fancy.

The humor extracted from this new, amusing situation fails to come off, except in occasional flashes, and the thesis has been handled with the tact of a subway blast. Likeable and still youthful, the star exhibits some unfortunate mannerisms, and is largely inarticulate. Sylvia Field and Tom Winc are attractive in their several ways, but "Behold This Dreamer" must be set down as an approach to calamity.

Also undignified is "Imperial Hotel," in which Frances Starr comes on the heels of "The Shelf." Lillian Campbell, the author, has gazed upon the jaded-up historical comedy, and seen that it was good. It isn't so good, though, in this instance. Some of the wise cracks deal with the Nights of Columbus, and there is one tasty scene where the Queen, induced to try tobacco, is hounded by nausea. It is all very depressing.

EUCHRE CONTEST IS PLANNED BY LODGE

Final Meet Between Elks and Pythians Set for Wednesday Night

Plans for the last of a series of euchre contests between Marion Lodge No. 402, Knights of Pythias, and Marion Lodge, No. 22, B. P. O. Elks, to be held next Wednesday night, were completed by the Knights of Pythias organization last night at its weekly meeting. The final contest will be held at the Knights of Pythias hall and is to be followed by a dinner at the expense of the losing side.

In the first contest, held several weeks ago, the Elks won by a margin of one point and in the second event of the series the Knights of Pythias were victorious by 130 points.

Arrangements were also made for entertaining members of Canby Lodge No. 61, Knights of Pythias, at the meeting next Friday night, when Canby will confer the page rank on a class of candidates.

ARREST THREE MEN ON SUSPICION AT BUCYRUS

Bucyrus, Nov. 12.—When found loitering in the red light district at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning, three men, giving their names as Lester Gear, Morton, and Lawrence Jamison, and Gerald Bennett, Delaware, were arrested and held on charges of suspicion. The trio was released when their stories checked with results of police investigation and they were ordered to leave the city as soon as they were released, which they did.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION BLAMED FOR FARM FIRE

Authors Protest Film

NEWS OF MOVIES IN CINEMA CAPITAL

Ban on Their Novels

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS, Star Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 12.—All of L. Simland is interested in the Authors' League request that Will H. Hays appear before a special committee of playwrights and authors and explain the film ban that has kept certain plays and novels from the screen.

Several years ago Mr. Hays, in an interview, stated that there had never been any official ban on "The Green Hat," "The Shanghai Gesture," "Rain," and "They Knew What They Wanted." He said the film producers had merely agreed in an effort to keep the screen clean, not to produce any of these plays.

Since that time Paramount-Famous-Lasker has produced "They Knew What They Wanted" under another name, with the consumable portions eliminated; and Gloria Swanson has taken "Saddle Tramp," the original version of "Rain," and made a picture. The league feels the ban is harmful to the authors and is, therefore, attempting to have it removed.

The ban has certainly been broken by two of the companies in filming two of the plays originally banned.

AFTER eight weeks in bed, Hunt Stromberg is better and back at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Plans for "The Argonaut" had as much to do with his recovery as anything else. At the time Cosmopolitan purchased "Tide of Empire," Peter B. Kyne's serial, there was much talk, but it wasn't until Hunt got back into business that plans materialized.

The story, dealing with the discovery of gold, has a plot that promises to be another "Covered Wagon."

The old Cosmopolitan crew—Joan Crawford, as the feminine lead, and Jack Conway as the director, already has been assigned to "The Argonaut."

YOU would never suspect Johnny Hines of starring in an Al Wood's melodrama. He would be the last person in the world you'd expect to enote in one of these hectic plays. But the unexpected is what makes the movies so fascinating.

Johnny, in New York, has decided to make "Chinatown Charlie" his next picture and we are told it is a mysterious tale of the underworld. Johnny is filming some of his scenes in New York's Chinatown.

L. G. Burr, who made the purchase believe this mellow melodrama, by Owen Davis will come pretty near giving Johnny Hines a big time play.

THE closed door of Warner Brothers is giving the other film companies a chance to do a little borrowing. The bargaining is already on, and it is fairly certain by the time Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warner sail for Europe, all the best players and directors at that organization will be working on some other lot.

The Warners are sailing on the Aquitania early in January for a holiday and a business trip abroad. They will meet Al Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Zanuck Warner's general manager in London. The Warners are sailing December 10 on the Ile De Paris for the premiere of "The Jazz Singer" on January 15.

But long before that we will find Michael Curtiz, the Hungarian director, wielding the megaphone elsewhere. Monte Blue coming on another lot, and both Dolores Costello and Mary McAvoy great players at some adjacent studio.

First National would like to borrow May McAvoy to play opposite Richard Barthelmess in "The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come." Clyde Cook has been farmed to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer for a special role and there is a strong possibility that Michael Curtiz will go to Universal.

THE dove of peace isn't going to be worth a nickel when it flits around Jettie Goudal.

Jettie and Cecil De Mille, to be less flowery, are not in a mood to kiss and make up and let bygones be bygones.

In fact, Mr. De Mille squashed all such reports yesterday when he let it be known that Jacqueline Logan, who supplanted the tempestuous Jettie in "The Leopold Woman," will be featured in "Midnight Madness," likewise a Goudal story.

Hamon Weight joins the organization to direct Miss Logan and Clive Brook, who usually plays a respectable conservative Englishman, will add the masculine interest by playing the male lead.

"Midnight Madness" is the first Hector Turnbull production—it marks his debut as an associate producer.

ANNOUNCEMENT of a merger of Tee-Art Studios, Inspiration Pictures and Edwin Carver interests has been made by Alfred T. Mannon, newly elected president of the reorganized Tee-Art organization. J. Boyce Smith, treasurer of Inspiration, becomes vice president and treasurer of the concern. Several other production companies are expected to join the film merger, which is estimated to involve $25,000,000.

THE studio is now on a co-operative basis, with all department heads having a sharing interest in the business," Mr. Smith stated.

"New stages, offices, mercantile building and other edifices will be built. A vast store of properties has been transported from New York, including the entire equipment of the former U. W. Griffith studio at Mamaroneck, N. Y."

It was stated the Tee-Art studios in New York City have been definitely closed, their equipment to be transported here.

Wall Street Displays Confidence in Steel

TRADE FUTURE SHOWS PROMISE

Pronounced Increase Shown in Buying Demand for Steel Strips

MARKETS AT A GLANCE
Railroad stocks, strong; industrial stocks, steady; domestic bonds, steady; foreign bonds, steady; grain, irregular; copper, firm; oil, irregular; cotton, steady; rubber, irregular; sugar, irregular; pig iron, strong; foreign exchange, strong.

New York, Nov. 12.—Enthusiastic buying of United States Steel stock and a few of the independent steels in the short session of the stock market today attested Wall Street's confidence in the immediate future of the steel trade.

A pronounced increase in the buying demand of the automobile trade for steel strips, combined with yesterday's increase of a dollar a ton for steel products of various kinds, was generally accepted as heralding the fall revival of the steel trade, now somewhat overdone. Pittsburgh dispatches indicated a sizable increase in the operations of strip mills, which are now working at 50 to 65 per cent of capacity. Buying of railroad steel is expected to increase materially within the next few weeks.

U. S. Steel Leader
Recording a 2-point gain in the first half hour, United States Steel common was the outstanding leader of the early advance in industrial stock prices. Colorado Fuel and Iron raced up to 74, Bethlehem Steel gained nearly two points and other of the well-known independents sold up a point on the average. Cor. Products and American Can, the star performers of the week, carried their rallies to new high prices for the year. Large blocks of General Motors changed hands above 132, the highest price of the week.

The week-end business and mercantile surveys were generally favorable, indicating a good expansion in retail trade, satisfactory progress in the crop districts and an upswing in prices of important commodities. Country-wide business is healthy and earnings records for the fourth quarter are expected to be more favorable than the second and third.

Investment buying of the railroad stocks continued in good volume, with New York Central, Atchafalaya, Baltimore & Ohio, Southern Railway and the Northwestern rails in demand at a slightly higher range of prices. Current car loadings are running lower than at this time last year, but railroad heads are actively preparing for a substantial expansion in the freight carrying business within the next few weeks.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

Dealers this morning were carrying a full stock of practically all kinds of vegetables in anticipation of the usual Saturday rush. Not much change was reported in prices. Green beans were being offered at two pounds for 25 cents. Hubbard squash was selling at three cents, a drop of one cent under the price of yesterday. Potatoes were being offered as leaders at $2.19 for a two-bushel bag or $1.19 for a one-bushel bag. Cabbage for kraut was being offered at $1.29 a hundred. English walnuts offered at 26 cents. Green peas were steady. A few green peas were being carried by dealers today, they were selling readily at 20 cents a pound. Cauliflower is plentiful and steady. Broccoli is plentiful and is selling at 20 cents. Egg plant is supplying a limited demand at 25 cents.

Fruit Prices Steady
Fruit prices were steady with dealers carrying a full stock of practically all seasonable kinds. Apples are holding at $1 to $3 a bushel. Cranberries were selling today at 18 cents. A few Concord grapes continued to come on the market. The sale is slow, however, at 10 cents a pound. Malaga and Tokay were being offered today by some dealers at 10 cents, a drop of 2 to 2.5 cents under the price of yesterday. Oranges are selling at 30 to 40 cents a dozen and bananas are holding at three pounds for 25 cents.

Bacon was being quoted today at 18 cents, dressed chickens at 80 cents and oysters at 65 cents a quart. Other meat prices were steady with buying normal.

SIX FROM COUNTY TO EXHIBIT STOCK

Boys and Girls To Display
Calves at Cleveland Show
Nov. 15-18

Six Marion county boys and girls, members of the Calf Club, will exhibit stock at the Cleveland Livestock Exhibit to be held in Cleveland Nov. 15 to 18 inclusive. The following will exhibit calves: George Kramer, Caledonia Ralph Bender, Owen Strine, Clifford Strine, Walter Bender and Ava Strine, all of Waldo.

The Marion County Calf Club is organized under the direction of the vocational agricultural department of the county schools. L. B. Fidler, Smith Hughes instructor at Waldo, is the club leader.

The calves were shipped this morning from Waldo. They will be grouped for county judging Wednesday afternoon. Judging as individuals will take place Thursday afternoon at the Cleveland Public Auditorium.

The Marion county boys and girls will leave for Cleveland Tuesday. That night they will attend a reception for club members from all parts of the state at the Hotel Winton.

Marion county livestock will also be represented at the exhibit by a car of Hampshire hogs. A group of farmers will attend the exhibit.

YOUNG PEOPLE ON EDUCATIONAL TRIP

Caravan of Club Members Leaves Gallon at Early Hour

Gallon, Nov. 12.—A large representation of Crawford County young people are in Columbus today enjoying an annual educational trip. Members of clothing, food and livestock clubs from various schools in the community are included in the group and the trip which is sponsored by the county association, is given to those who make a favorable showing in work done at the annual county fair.

Whetstone, Lykens, Chatfield, Polk Township, Holmes Liberty, Tiro, North Robinson, Sulphur Springs and Mt. Zion are the schools represented.

The trip is being made in special buses and the party left Gallon at 8 o'clock this morning. The group is being chaperoned by club leaders and school instructors and the day's activities included a complete tour of the capital city with special visit to various state institutions and public buildings of interest.

LEIDY WEDS AGAIN

Former Husband of Fifi Widener Marries Mrs. Procter

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—Carter Randolph Leidy, descendant of one of Philadelphia's oldest families, married Mrs. Marjorie E. Woodhouse Procter in Baltimore, Oct. 21, it was learned today.

Mrs. Leidy was the divorced wife of F. William Procter, heir of one of the founders of the Procter and Gamble Soap Co.

Leidy started society seven years ago when he left the University of Pennsylvania, where he was a freshman, to elope with Fifi Widener, many times an heiress.

In October, 1925, Fifi sued for divorce, getting it in January, 1929. Last December she became the bride of Milton W. Holden.

DEGREES CONFERRED BY MASONIC LODGE

Meeting Friday Night Canceled
To Permit Members To Attend DeMolay Session

The entered apprentice and fellowcraft degrees were conferred at a meeting of Marion Lodge No. 70, F. and A. M., held at the Masonic Temple, last night.

There will be no session of the lodge next Friday night, it was announced, the plan being to have the members attend a special meeting of the local chapter, Order of DeMolay, to be held on that date at the Masonic Temple. Representatives of DeMolay chapters and Masonic lodges from various localities in this section of the state are expected to be present. Degree work will be in charge of Simon Kenton Chapter, Order of DeMolay, of Kenton, and past councillors of Marion Chapter. Officers recently elected for the coming year by Marion Lodge No. 70 will be installed the night of Dec. 27, which is the anniversary of the festival of St. John the Evangelist, an event observed by Masonic lodges throughout the country.

SCHOOL PROGRAM

Armistice Day Observed By Prospect Students

Prospect, Nov. 12.—Prospect Schools observed Armistice Day with an appropriate program, Friday afternoon. The program was in charge of Prof. E. E. Keller. The program was opened by the singing of War songs, led by Miss Josephine Altmeyer, and Miss Mary Ann Porter. A playlet entitled "The Spirit of Young America" was given by the Fifth grade. Richard Herr and Edward Thomas played a clarinet duet. Helen Cox and Lucille Northrup each sang solos. Ellen and Velma Altmeyer and Marguerite Altmeyer gave an exercise. Five members of the Junior Class gave a playlet entitled "Thanksgiving in 1917." Recitations were given by Charles Meagher and Jimmie Farrington. Evelyn Fitzpatrick gave a reading. Harry Gant gave a talk on experiences overseas. Thelma Bizzigraff gave "In Flanders Field," and played the bugle call. The program closed by singing "America."

FRAUD CHARGED

Twenty-Seven Separate Acts Cited by Davis Committee Representative

Cleveland, Nov. 12.—A suit charging 27 separate acts of fraud and illegality on the part of election officials to defeat the Davis Charter Amendment, was filed here today by Ezra Shapiro, acting on behalf of the Harry L. Davis Committee in an effort to set aside last Tuesday's municipal election in which the charter was defeated.

The Shapiro petition requests that the court be declared "null and void" and asks that a date be set for another election to be held under court orders.
